Soviet Leaders Rule Out War In 'Dispute With Capitalism'

Bulgarian Urges 'Co-operation' In Historic Talk With Newsmen

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Premier Bulganin told a press conference today the Soviet Union "will exert all efforts" to find a "common language" with the west at next week's Geneva Big Four conference.

Bulgarian said the four powers should "discuss patiently and loyally at a round table" unsettled international problems. Bulganin was addressing a gathering of foreign correspondents called to the Kremlin for the first press conference ever given by a Russian head of government.

TOP TEAM ATTENDS

The other four men of Bulganin's team for the Geneva talks were also present: Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party leader; Vyacheslav Molotov, foreign minister; Marshal Georgi Zhukov, defence minister, and Andrei Gromyko, deputy foreign minister.

The premier said the dispute between capitalism and socialism "cannot be solved by force with the help of war."

A SACRED DUTY

Bulganin said the Soviet union considers it its "sacred duty" to exert all efforts to substitute an atmosphere of confidence, mutual understanding and businesslike co-operation for the present tension.

He added "we hope that this will also be done by the other participants in the conference."

He declared Russia "has

IKE, BULGANIN TO EXCHANGE STATE VISITS?

MOSCOW (UP)—Reports circulated among foreigners here today that Premier Nikolai Bulganin and President Eisenhower may exchange state visits as a result of next week's Geneva conference.

It would be an unprecedented for an American president to visit Moscow and for a Soviet premier to visit Washington as the open press conference which Bulganin scheduled for today.

Mr. Eisenhower visited Moscow as a victorious comrade-in-arms at the end of Second World War. But he has never been here as president.

never intended and does not intend to attack anybody," but "seeing the war preparations of other states we naturally cannot but take measures to guarantee the security of our country."

"We have an army, and in our opinion a very good army, equipped with all the necessary techniques," Bulganin spoke quietly and with emphasis as he read the text of his statement. There was no opportunity for correspondents to ask questions.

Eden Gets Pointers From 'The Old Master'

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Eden had an hour's talk on Thursday night, with his old chief, Sir Winston Churchill, about the Big Four conference in Geneva Monday.

Government officials disclosed today that Eden went to the 80-year-old statesman's home at Hyde Park Gate, London.

He told Churchill of the latest developments, then listened to the last-minute views and advice of the man who strove for years to bring about the "talks at the summit" (Churchill's phrase) with Russia.

The visit was more than just a mere tribute to the ground-work laid by the great old statesman. No living man has such experience of top level talks with Russia and other powers.

Several newspapers recently had suggested that Churchill should be asked to accompany Eden to Geneva as a sort of unofficial guide and counsellor. It was even raised in the House of Commons but the question was sidestepped gracefully by Eden.

ARCHBISHOP ASKS PRAYERS FOR BIG FOUR

Archbishop of British Columbia Harold E. Sexton today issued a call to prayer in all Anglican churches throughout B.C. and the Yukon to "engage in a worldwide act of intercession" during the Geneva summit conference.

Archbishop Sexton asked all clergy to pray for "God's blessing on the forthcoming meeting of the heads of the governments of France, the United Kingdom, the United States of America, and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics."

Daily prayers at noon were urged upon individual Anglicans for the duration of the Big Four talks.

11 INJURED AS BUS RAMS INTO TRANSPORT

BOWMANVILLE, Ont. (BUP)—A Colonial Coach Lines bus carrying 24 passengers crashed into the rear of a heavy automobile transport at nearby Newcastle early today, injuring 11 persons.

Most of the passengers were dozing during the night journey.

The impact knocked them out of their seats and they sprawled in the centre aisle amid a pile of overnight bags, pillows and broken glass.

IKE SEES NEW PHASE IN SOVIET RELATIONS

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower declared the hope today that next week's Big Four conference will "open new vistas" leading toward solution of major East-West problems.

Mr. Eisenhower voiced this hope only a matter of hours before his scheduled departure tonight for the Geneva meeting with the leaders of Russia, Britain and France.

"There are signs that the world may be entering a new phase in international relationships," he said. The president said he hopes he and his fellow statesmen at Geneva will "be able to identify the outstanding divisive issues and develop methods to try to solve them."

New Plan to Cut Arms Readied by U.S. Aide

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is preparing a secret new disarmament plan for early consideration by the world's major powers, including Russia.

Mr. Eisenhower was reported to have high hopes the Big Four powers at Geneva will agree to a fresh start—probably next fall—on a step-by-step path toward eventual global disarmament. But the President, with British and French support, was reported ready to oppose any Russian move to call for a gigantic "world disarmament conference." This Soviet approach to disarmament, sounded for years, was repeated only last month by Foreign Minister Molotov at San Francisco. Diplomats are sure it will be repeated again at Geneva.

Inspection is expected to be the heart of the new U.S. plan under formulation by Harold E. Stassen, special disarmament adviser to the President. Stassen is in Paris for Saturday's meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council. He is not scheduled to go to Geneva. But he could reach there quickly, if needed, since he will be in Paris all next week.

EUROPE'S HEAT WAVE DEATH TOLL NOW 100

LONDON (AP)—Thunderstorms striking communities with sudden fierceness were breaking the heat wave in Europe today.

The death toll in the eight-day spell of hot weather was estimated at 100 persons.

In Britain, there was apprehension that the violent stabs of chain lightning, which killed six persons Thursday, might bring more casualties.

Temperatures approached 80 degrees and it was considerably warmer at various places on the Continent.

Norway reported a maximum temperature of 91 degrees, and Oslo city authorities introduced regulations to conserve water.

Three Lynched As French Riot In Morocco

Europeans Storm Streets After Terror Bomb Kills Six

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—One policeman was killed and three Moroccans were reported lynched this afternoon during the bloody rioting which followed explosion of a bomb in the European section of town Thursday night.

Angry mobs of French colonists began rioting this morning in protest over the terror bombing.

The trouble was sparked by a bomb which exploded on a main street and killed six Europeans, including a 10-year-old child. Witnesses said the bomb was loaded on a cart and pushed by two Moroccans into a cafe section which was crowded with Europeans celebrating French Bastille Day. The Moroccans then walked away.

WRECKED CAFES

The blast, heard throughout the city, wrecked two crowded sidewalk cafes.

Police and uninjured civilians pulled six dead and 33 wounded from the chaos of splintered tables, chairs and glassware.

Almost immediately thousands of men swarmed into the streets, shouting insults at Resident-General Gilbert Grandval and other Europeans holding moderate views on ways to end the nationalist terrorism in this North African protectorate.

The mob surged into Casablanca's main square and set fire to five stores owned by Moroccans.

A seventh European was shot to death as mobs tried to break into the home of Jean Charles Legrand, French lawyer designated to defend Moroccans on terrorist charges.

Legrand, who fired pistol shots at the crowd, was arrested and charged with murder.

Violence spread to the native quarter when Moroccans hurled a grenade at a police jeep, injuring five policemen. The police fired back, killing three Moroccans and wounding several others.

Thursday night's violence angered moderate Moroccans and liberal Frenchmen alike. It came within a few hours after Grandval had announced that the last internment camp holding anti-French Moroccans would be closed down.

It also followed the French government's announcement that Grandval was being sent to Morocco to carry out a policy of giving more home rule to the Moroccans.

Matric Results (Awards Only) Out Tuesday

Names of scholarship winners in department of education university entrance and Grade 13 examinations in June will be released Tuesday, July 19.

A complete list of examination results will not be released, a departure from previous department policy. Officials said this is because the lists showed only examination results, and that students promoted without having to take exams did not appear.

Individual school boards may release complete promotion lists later this year, they said.

Criminal Aspects Will Be Checked For Commissioner

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today ordered a Royal Canadian Mounted Police team into the Vancouver city police force probe.

The order was made at the request of R. H. Tupper, Q.C., who is conducting the inquiry into the Vancouver-city police force, that certain facilities of the RCMP have been made available for the purpose of investigating criminal aspects of the matters coming before the inquiry.

The attorney-general was not available for comment. The team has been drawn from the RCMP's criminal investigation bureau.

Assistant Commissioner Rivett-Carnac said the force is "acting in the normal course of our police duties" in entering the investigation of Vancouver's police department.

Tupper Inquiry Adjourned 10 Days In Hope Cuthbert Will Be Able to Talk

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Fred Hume said today he will testify before Vancouver's royal commission inquiring into charges of police corruption if asked to appear.

(CP and BUP Dispatches) VANCOUVER—Royal Commissioner R. H. Tupper, Q.C., waited today for Detective-Sergeant Len Cuthbert to recover from self-inflicted gunshot wounds before continuing his official investigation of charges of laxity and corruption in the Vancouver police force.

Mr. Tupper said it would be at least 10 days before the commission meets again.

The hearings were adjourned Thursday after a two-day session in which police officials testified they believed Chief Walter Mulligan and detectives were linked with the underworld.

Cuthbert has emerged as the key figure. Every witness mentioned his name.

There was a possibility that Cuthbert, whose attempted suicide in the police station, June 24, sparked the probe, would

ENTRANTS FAIL AGAIN; PUZZLE PRIZE TO $275

The Times' Crossword prize stands at the $275 mark as entrants failed again for the eighth straight week.

"Goat" was one answer most puzzlers failed to come up with, the majority of them arriving at the solution as "gnat."

The clue said: "One possible source of irritation when people are having a picnic." This suggests a source of irritation to "people," presumably all the people at the picnic. Gnat would need to be in the plural for this since one solitary gnat would be too trifling.

Other wrong guesses were "hint" instead of "hunt" and "pray" instead of "play."

Complete answer and explanation for last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week will be found on Page 21 of today's Times.

Howe Hits Criticism Of Polish Wheat Deal

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

Trade Minister Howe says opposition "hullabaloo" over the wheat deal with Communist Poland could lead to four-fifths of the $20,000,000 purchase being lost.

He referred to the transaction Thursday after painting a bright picture of Canada's economy. It is "booming as never before," he said.

Opposition leader Drew has said the government is playing Santa Claus in the arrangement under which Poland will finance 85 per cent of a 9,250,000-bushel purchase under a one-year Canadian bank loan insured by the government.

Mr. Howe said opposition criticism is unfortunate because it invites competitors into Canadian markets. "I don't see why we have to have all this hullabaloo," he said. "I hope to hear no more about the Polish transaction."

Three-Sided Policy Proposed

He urged a three-sided policy of encouraging trade by cutting taxes to reduce production costs, keeping export channels clear of trade restrictions and helping domestic producers find markets.

CCF leader Coldwell supported Canadian sales of wheat and butter to Communist countries and said Canada must do everything possible to build up two-way trade with the sterling area.

Mr. Coldwell said world trade is becoming more competitive. There was no danger in selling non-strategic goods to Communist countries. The more Canada could trade with unfriendly countries, the more possibility there would be of reaching mutual understandings.

"We should use every facility to trade with every country willing to trade with us, regardless of their political complexion," the CCF leader said.

Mr. Coldwell said he regrets that so much of Canada's trade is with the U.S.

The sterling area was the largest trading area in the world. To break into it, Canada had to do it to permit convertibility by building up a greater flow of goods between dollar and sterling areas. Surplus giveaways by the U.S. would not achieve that.

Mr. Howe said there is no country outside the Iron Curtain where Canada could sell subsidized exports without protests from other exporting countries. Britain, like Canada, refused to accept subsidized goods.

The discussion developed during a Commons review of Mr. Howe's departmental estimates which continues today.

Exports 10% Above Last Year

Introducing his estimates, Mr. Howe said exports are at record levels—more than 10 per cent above last year. There were prospects of a near-record grain crop and certainty of a record capital investment.

Encouraging reports have been received from Britain concerning purchase of Canadian apples this year Howe said Thursday. He did not elaborate. He was replying to George Nowlan (PC—Digby-Annapolis-Kings) and H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West), who represent apple-producing ridings.

Howard Green, Progressive Conservative front-bencher, said Thursday night that Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. seems to be hesitant about building an all-Canadian natural gas pipeline.

He suggested that the field be thrown open to any other Canadian company interested in carrying out an all-Canadian project.

"Why must the Trans-Canada be continued as the chosen instrument for building the pipeline?" the member for Vancouver Quadra asked during study of trade department estimates.

His speech was punctuated by remarks from Trade Minister Howe, who reports to Parliament on pipeline matters.

Mr. Howe, obviously annoyed, interrupted Mr. Green's speech after the first few sentences with a flat refusal to answer any questions about natural gas.

Later he termed Mr. Green's speech mischievous and "made out of whole cloth." He said there has been no government statement to warrant the member's speculation about changes in pipeline planning.

Opposition Leader Drew, and Solon Low, Social Credit chief, Thursday assailed the defence department for its bi-monthly armed forces publication "Current Affairs."

Mr. Drew charged that the government is issuing "insidious propaganda in the guise of information."

Mr. Lowe said an article on Russia in the March 1 edition of the pamphlet glorified life in the Soviet Union and, at best, was a rash apology for the U.S.S.R. He described it as a deliberate misrepresentation of the facts, type and propaganda.

ROK Chiefs Threaten Attack On North Korea

SEOUL (Reuters)—South Korea's top military leaders said in a statement today that the armed forces were prepared to declare the Korean armistice void and threatened to take "prompt action" against the Communists in North Korea.

Gen. Lee Hyang Kun, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, issued the statement following a secret conference between the joint chiefs of staff.

The statement was released as the Big Four prepared for their summit conference opening in Geneva Monday.

The statement noted "with apprehension little short of alarm" reports from the United States that American leaders could not see the likelihood of early reunification of Korea.

The statement also "regretted" President Eisenhower's reported address to Congress in which he said the Geneva conference would not take up Asian affairs.

CANT SIT BY

Lee said in the statement: "The Republic of Korea cannot sit idly waiting for sure death."

Lee proposed five conditions for refraining from marching north. These are: Dissolve the neutral nations supervisory commission, which is responsible for supervising the entry of war material into Korea; strengthen the military power of South Korea to equal that of North Korea; increase economic aid to Korea "for effective rehabilitation"; transfer the United Nations headquarters from Japan to Korea; restrain Japan's "pro-Communist tendencies and to instill a respect for democratic practices and beliefs."

Howe's Feelings Hurt Over Compromise?

OTTAWA (CP)—Feelings of Defence Production Minister Howe were reported Thursday to have been ruffled by the speed with which the government yielded to Progressive Conservative demands on his defence production powers bill during his absence from the capital.

The government compromise—described in some quarters as a surrender—is reported to have disappointed a large section of the Liberal house membership.

The Ottawa Citizen said some Liberals feel Mr. Howe was given a "shabby deal" and that Premier St. Laurent took the opportunity of the minister's absence "to make a deal which went further than he (Mr. Howe) had agreed to."

The Ottawa Journal said Mr. Howe returned in such a rage it rekindled talk of his resignation.

RCN Forms Anti-Sub 'Copter Unit

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy is forming an anti-submarine helicopter unit, first of its kind for Canada.

Ceremonies marking formation of the unit, to be known as Hs-5, will be held July 26 at the navy's Dartmouth, N.S., air station, naval headquarters announced today.

Lt.-Cmdr. George H. Marlow, 31, of Saskatoon, will command the new unit which will fly six Sikorsky HO4S-3 helicopters. They will be based at Dartmouth but will operate mainly from the aircraft carrier Mag-nificent.

The navy said formation of the unit underlines the increasing importance it places in the helicopter as an anti-submarine weapon. Helicopters, equipped with anti-submarine equipment, will work closely with surface ships and other aircraft in developing anti-submarine tactics.

Revenue Minister Under Fire Of B.C. Tory; Discipline Urged

OTTAWA (BUP)—E. Davie Fulton (PC-Kamloops) charged today that Revenue Minister J. J. McCann failed to comply with an order of the Commons in tabling a recent return in reply to a motion passed by the House.

Fulton charged part of the answer was "an evasion and a non-compliance." He cited House precedents in which ministers and members are compelled to reply to such motions and can be called before the bar of the House—a drastic disciplinary step in parliamentary procedure.

Speaker Rene Beaudoin asked for "a few more hours to study the matter."

INFORMATION SOUGHT

Fulton presented a motion for a return asking how many appeals to the minister against succession duties assessments had been made in the last five years. He asked for the information by districts.

Sections of the question asked about appeals from trust companies acting as executors of estates, and asked if McCann was a director of any of the companies which appealed.

The reply said seven different companies had appealed 29 cases in the last five years, but refused to disclose which companies and how many appeals by each. The reply said section 54 of the Succession Duties Act prohibited giving this type of information.

But Fulton told the House

Guided Missile Work Delayed By Strike

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's development of guided missiles is being hindered by a strike of 1,700 production workers at de Havilland Aircraft's suburban Downsview plant, company officials said Thursday.

Engineers employed on guided missile research are among 1,300 office employees laid off by the company Tuesday, the second day of a strike by the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL).

to supply the information asked in Fulton's motion.

The question grew out of criticism of McCann's role in the disclosure that a Conservative candidate for the Ontario Legislature in his riding had failed to report campaign contributions. McCann also has been sharply criticized by Opposition members for retaining his post as director of the Guaranty Trust Company while serving as revenue minister.

FRIDAY, JULY 15, 1955

The Big Boom

NORTH AMERICA HAS COME through a half-year of almost unbelievable prosperity. It is literally true, by every measurement, that the continent enjoys this summer the best times in all human history. In Canada, the optimistic forecasts of Mr. Harris' spring budget (for which he was much criticized) have been abundantly confirmed.

Moreover, this complete recovery from the marginal 1954 recession has been achieved without the spur of war or the stimulus of defence spending. Both in the United States and Canada military budgets have been reduced.

No wonder that Mr. Molotov, visiting the United States and doubtless bringing all his neat Marxian prejudices with him, is amazed to see that capitalism—now unrecognizable by classic definition—has somehow failed in its inevitable collapse.

Perhaps Mr. Molotov also had time to notice the statement of Mr. George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor, that the workers "never had it so good." Clearly the economic system is not behaving, nor the workers suffering in accordance with the iron laws of Marx.

If an economic prodigy without precedent has been accomplished in America it would be dangerous to suppose that America has no more economic problems. Prosperity itself creates such problems.

One of them, its effects not yet calculable, is created by the annual wage settlement in the automobile industry, the largest industry in the world. And this settlement may well set a pattern in other industries.

The automobile workers have gained an extra 20 cents an hour in pay, though only half this sum is awarded to them in direct wages, the remainder going into various welfare funds. The cost of making automobiles has been raised by 20 cents per man per hour.

Multiplying by the 8,200,000 cars to be manufactured this year, these are massive figures, for which the consumer must pay in one fashion or another unless the efficiency of the manufacturing machine can be increased. The automobile industry will try to absorb its higher cost by higher efficiency, that secret weapon of the North American system.

In the recent steel settlement the workers did slightly better than those in the automobile industry and their extra wages are to be handed on in the price of steel used by many other industries in countless products.

Here, then, in automobiles and steel is the basis for a heavy increase in the cost of making all kinds of manufactured goods. It does not follow, however, that all wage increases are automatically fastened upon the consumer's purse in the form of prices.

Since 1946 the wages of American factory workers have risen 71 per cent but the cost of living, on average, rose by only half that amount. Increased efficiency in the manufacturing machine absorbed half the difference.

How much of the new wage costs can it now absorb? That is the question worrying the economists of Washington and the secretary of the treasury, Mr. Humphrey, when he warns the public against the danger of further inflation.

At the moment the North American economy appears to be extraordinarily stable. Marginal increases in the price of manufactured goods have been offset by falling farm prices, at the cost of the farmer.

Nevertheless, some forces disturbing to economists are at work. Installment credit in the United States has soared up to a new peak of $235 billions. Home mortgage debt is $75 billions as against $18.5 billions after the last war.

The Federal Government, looking beyond this summer's boom, urges restraint among borrowers, public and private. It can go further if it desires and discourage borrowing by raising interest rates but so far has resisted that measure. Interest rates and other quiet but drastic fiscal weapons certainly will be used if the boom begins to turn into an inflation.

At all events, it is clear that governmental policy, so far as it can control a free economy, has worked better in the last year or two than most experts, including the Russians, had dared to expect.

Dr. J. H. King

BRITISH COLUMBIA HAS LOST another contact with its pioneering days in the death of Senator J. H. King.

In a wide field of service, public in the offices he held in the B.C. Legislature, the Federal Parliament and Senate, and private in his early medical practice and activities in the Kootenays, he had created a large circle of friends and admirers.

Everybody in B.C. knew "Doc" King, the leading citizen of Cranbrook, on whom Ralph Connor is believed to have patterned his novel "The Doctor." Old-timers recall him as minister of public works in the John Oliver administration and, later, as holder of the equivalent federal office in Prime Minister King's first government. A veteran of the Senate, he had at one time held the post of Speaker in that chamber.

Though he attained high office, he will be remembered most clearly for the fine quality of friendship he brought to his daily contacts, for the spirit of generosity which was one of his guiding characteristics, and the kindly disposition which had won him wide popularity as a pioneer doctor of the interior and later as a public figure of prominence.

Gold in the Kremlin

RUSSIA IS SUPPOSED TO BE A great producer of gold, though its production is a state secret. So is the size of its gold reserves. But Russia's use of this gold in international trade cannot be completely disguised and lately the world has seen Russian gold pouring out to buy foreign goods.

In the last two months the movement of gold out of the Kremlin vaults has been massive. It is being used to buy foodstuffs, like Canadian grain, and consumer goods of all sorts.

Russia could not pay for them by its own exports. It must use its accumulated treasure, as Stalin always refused to use it. So far this year Russia has sold 3,500,000 ounces of gold for about $125 millions, as against 3,000,000 ounces in the whole of last year. The pressure on the reserves has increased.

It has been increased, of course, not only by Russia's greater need of foreign goods to supply a growing nation and overcome the failures of the economy at home, but to satisfy the political pressures within the post-Stalin regime.

After Stalin's death Mr. Malenkov took supreme office on a policy of relaxing the rigors of Russian society. Wiser than some of his colleagues, he realized that the Russian people could not be expected to endure much longer the cost of rapid capital investment and of the increasing armed services.

His "soft" approach was soon repudiated by the communist hierarchy and he was demoted. But this year Russia suddenly reverted to his policy, politically and economically. The present use of gold to buy foreign goods and relieve the Russian consumers is the economic expression of that policy. And it means that Russia is presently living beyond its means, on the fat accumulated in Stalin's time.

'Some Enchanted Evening'

GUEST ARTIST BERNARD TURGEON sang "Some Enchanted Evening" and the title described the first of this summer's two Victoria Symphony performances at Butchart's Gardens Thursday.

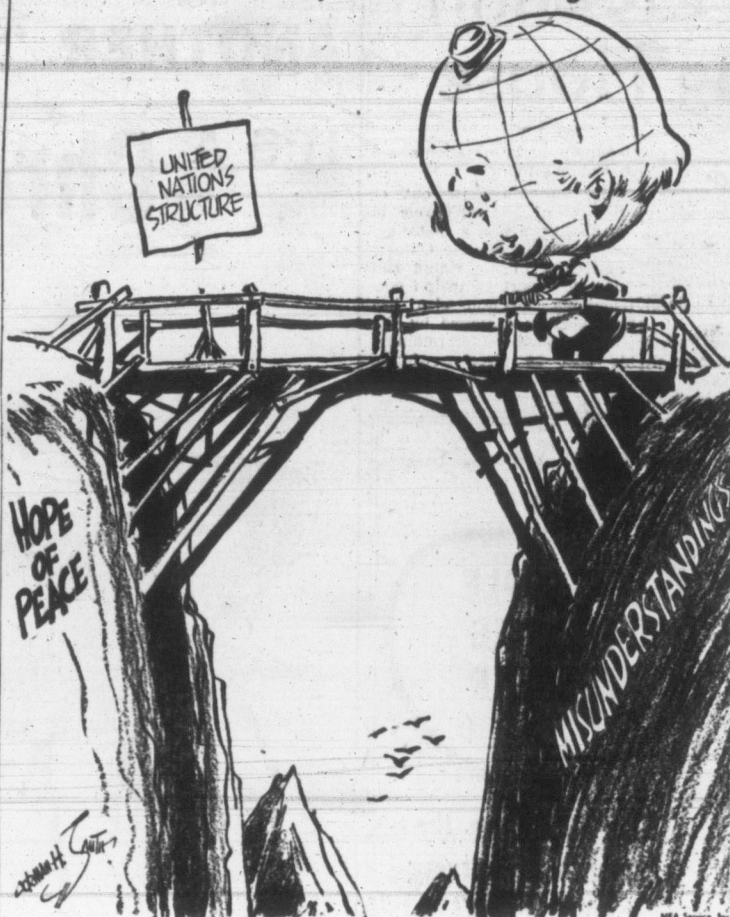

The magnificent setting, the perfect weather, the large and responsive crowd and the pleasing selections chosen by Conductor Hans Gruber made the occasion one to remember.

To the assembled Victorians and visitors Mr. Gruber's thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Ian Ross, owners and proprietors of the Gardens, for sponsoring the concerts, came as a welcome tribute. It was another of those gestures which have given the famed beauty spot something more than an international reputation for flowers and delightful scenery. It was graciousness in the Butchart manner.

An American visitor, whose speech proclaimed southern states' residence, indicated the general appreciation of the event and the surroundings: "If I ever reach this part of the world again, I'll spend a week in these Gardens. You could never grow tired of them." Nor of the music which the Victoria Symphony presented with such congenial spirit.

Not Perfect, But It's Standing

Chips

BY DAVE BROCK

I WAS reading the other day that the public both in Britain and in Australia is losing interest in first-class cricket. Especially in Australia, of all places. These are not matters of opinion when you have the paid admissions to check by.

In Australia only a few hundred will turn out to watch a really good match, when not so long ago they came in many thousands. Many of the county clubs in England now lose money each year and are kept solvent by gifts and lotteries.

And what is the reason? Well, of course there are more counter-attractions than formerly. Both indoors and out. We know that in North America, where many games do not draw the way they did.

But according to English sports writers, another great cause of the decline in interest is the modern insistence on safe, defensive, "scientific" play. Needless to say, it is the players, coaches, and management who insist on it, not the spectators! The spectators hate it, and well they might. It turns a game into a Phoney War.

WE can, of course, see the same defensive game in English rugby. (I wouldn't know about Canadian football, once called Canadian rugby, but if I know anything about the modern player of any team game, I bet I could make a good intuitive guess or two: too much safety again.)

We have the defensive game in soccer and hockey... the team packing its own goal-mouth when it is a goal or two ahead, stalling for the rest of the game. But honestly, I don't think it is only in sports that we are killing something by means of the defensive spirit. I think most of us, in everything we do, have lost a tremendous amount of enterprise, spirit, dash, gusto, verve, and all that. What the French call elan (only they prefer to have an accent over that E, and the printer is sorry but he hasn't got one!)

THIS is one of my favorite topics—that we are a big bunch of sissies and softies. And I think this can and should be demonstrated as often as possible.

Tonight I'll just content myself with this: The Times (London) says that the modern cricketer never gives the impression of really enjoying himself, and if he isn't enjoying what he is doing, he is hardly likely to convey enjoyment to others. The others, who pay him. Too right!

We can see this in other games besides cricket, and in other things besides games. In the arts, in a man's daily work, in a man's hours given over to what he so wildly calls "enjoyment", there is a constant and tremendous rejection of fun. It seems an awful pity. It is one of the biggest plagues there is.

And I think the modern cricket game is just part of the big general pattern in this soft age of long-faced prudence. Stop me, I'm getting myself all gloomy. I shall now knock off and have a bit of fun.

LAW? BEFORE I knock off, though, I want to get a couple of other things off my chest. I have just read once too often that there is an unwritten law about a V.C. winner not being allowed to fight again. I have been reading this nonsense several times a year for the last ten or twelve years, and I am getting awfully sick of it.

Who began this theory, and when and where and why? Obviously, if a man with the V.C. were not allowed to fight again, he couldn't win the V.C. twice. And since it has been won twice, as recently as Second World War, there is no such law.

True, it is a very rare thing to have a V.C. and bar. But it does happen. For example, it was won in 1941 and again in 1942 by Captain C. H. Upham, V.C. and bar, of New Zealand. And talking of New Zealanders, Lieutenant-General Sir Bernard Freyberg (who began life as a dentist, I am told) won only a single V.C., though he won four D.S.O.'s... that's right; D.S.O. and three bars.

But it sticks in my mind that he did considerable fighting after winning that V.C. in 1916! Ask any German who got back from Tunisia in 1943.

BELLS ON HER TOES

A FRIEND of mine recently traveled from Vancouver to Toronto on a nice new Canadian train. She said it was a very good train, so far as she could judge such things... she has seen a good many trains in her time.

But her whole trip was made hideous by incessant music played from morning till mid-evening on the train's music-canning equipment. There was no escape from the stuff unless you hired a private room, and on the last day of her trip, just before she went mad, she was forced to do just that, though she could ill afford it.

It so happens that my friend is a professional and serious musician. "Ah, then," you will perhaps say, "that explains her discomfort and resentment." Fairly, maybe, but not wholly. A layman would be quite able to tell it was upsetting him too. And if by chance he didn't know what the matter was, it would damage him all the worse, no?

MACHINE AGE

It is the machinery of power that is getting out of sane control. Lost in its elaboration even some men of goodwill begin to forget the essential humanity this machinery should be serving. "They are now so busy testing, analyzing and reporting on the bath water that they cannot remember having thrown the baby out of the window."

—J. B. Priestley.

Eisenhower-Dulles Duet

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

IT WAS naughty of the sub-committee of the House Appropriations Committee to publish just now what Secretary Dulles told them a month ago about the economic troubles of the Soviet Union.

Having been warned by Mr. Khrushchev that the Soviet Union is unwilling to let its concessions be interpreted as weakness, the White House had to announce that Mr. Dulles had not meant what his words said. And in fact, he had not meant what his words said. He had been telling the sub-committee that part of the truth, somewhat ornamented, which he thought would most quickly persuade them to vote the appropriation for foreign aid. He was telling them the kind of truth he thought they would like to hear.

This is by no means the first time that the President and the Secretary have seemed to be saying different things. Again and again, they have been found saying things which differed very much in the tone, and occasionally in the substance.

The President, looking at the shining face of the moon, would say it was cheerful; the Secretary looking at the dark side of the moon, would say it was chilly. For this point of view of Eisenhower's hopefulness and Dulles' wet blanket there have been a number of explanations—for example, that Eisenhower never reads the fine print whereas Dulles is an expert on fine print—or that Eisenhower believes in the natural goodness of man and that Dulles believes in original sin.

SAME END

Be that as it may, the best explanation is, I think, that the Eisenhower-Dulles duet is a harmony of two parts. The one is addressed to the majority of our people and to the world. The other is addressed to the Republican Senators who were predominant in the first half of the Eisenhower administration. The two voices—which had so often sounded so unlike—have been devoted to the same end. That end is to neutralize the once powerful right wing Republicans in order that the basic Eisenhower policy of disengagement and conciliation could proceed.

During his first two years the President never felt that he was himself equipped by previous experience or that he had the political strength to make himself the leader of his party. In that period it fell to Mr. Dulles to appease and to fling and to divert the efforts of Knowland, Bridges and their coterie to take over the conduct of foreign policy, particularly in Asia, and of McCarthy and his crew to terrorize and dominate the personnel of the Executive Department.

MR. DULLES' JOB

It was not what one might call a game played openly and above board. But in view of the fact that the President was unwilling or unable to assume the leadership and to assert the prerogative of his office, it was Mr. Dulles who had to hold the President's political enemies at bay. He fed them and he kept them quiet with negative policies, with announcements of what could not and would not be done, and with very stern words.

He worked largely because the right wing Senators were, despite all their war-like talk, isolationists under the skin. They wanted to balance the budget and to reduce taxes. Mr. Dulles breathed fire for them whenever the President seemed to be talking moderation. And so Mr. Dulles held them off until in the mid-term election of 1954 they lost their power to interfere with the President's policy of disengagement, retrenchment, conciliation, and co-existence.

The remarks which Mr. Dulles made in private to the House Sub-Committee were meant to make the Congress feel that they should vote the money for foreign aid even though the Soviet government was talking peace. Until this year the case for foreign aid had been argued on the basis of the imminent threat of an aggressive expansion of the Communist power. Faced with the change of Soviet tactics, Mr. Dulles was out to persuade Congress that the Communist power is now retreating because of the success of the policy of which foreign aid is an important element.

The question, we might ask ourselves, is whether the President's power at home and the situation abroad have not brought us to a point where it is possible, and indeed necessary to stop talking down to the Congress and to begin talking publicly as informed and responsible men are talking and thinking privately. The great majority in Congress would prefer to be treated sincerely and as adults, and the extremists no longer count for very much.

TIME TO BE FRANK

No good can come of teaching our people to believe that we now have the upper hand, and that we can therefore compel the Soviet Union to make concessions. The Communists are a tough lot. We are, for example, far from having the upper hand in Eastern Asia. We must not delude ourselves into thinking that we have won the race of armaments. And even in the economic comparison, the advantage is by no means decisively with us. To be sure, the American free enterprise system and the mixed economy of Western Europe are stronger and richer than the Communist economy in Russia and in Eastern Europe. But in the vast underdeveloped areas of the world the Western way is not regarded as the only way. For free enterprise and democracy are much slower and more difficult than is the strong centralized, ruthless way of Communist dictatorship.

Over the whole world situation there now impends the enormous, epochal, absolutely unprecedented fact that the modern nuclear weapons, though they cannot be abandoned or abolished, cannot be used without intolerable risks. He would be a bold man who thought he knew the political consequences of this kind of military stalemate. It seems clear enough that both sides are deterred from using these weapons as instruments of their policy. But it is not at all clear what this will do to their policies.

CHANGE IN STATUS

One apparent effect of the stalemate, it seems to me, to loosen up the Soviet satellite system in Eastern Europe and the American dependency system in East Asia. The weak countries would be entirely indefensible in world war, and the moral obligation to attempt to defend them is a military liability which almost certainly offsets whatever strategic value they may possess. This is as true of Poland as it is of South Korea and Formosa. They are all hopelessly vulnerable to nuclear weapons. Because of this ultimate and controlling fact, their role as outpost in the great military coalition is diminishing, and their future is more likely to lie outside of the military system of the great nuclear powers. OVERLOOKED?

Anyone familiar with the part played by Ulf Bitterlich in the rescue of Charles Faulkner of Victoria, injured on the upper slopes of Mount Arrowsmith last year, knows that he fully deserved the silver award of the Royal Humane Society. But it is unfortunate that the society did not make some award to Leo Lynn of Alberni, who was injured in the rescue operations.

The boy, who was 16 at the time, displayed exceptional courage in the face of danger. He was struck on the head by rocks and since the accident has undergone three skull operations. Perhaps, the society next year will see fit to award him a certificate for bravery. JOSEPH BROWN.

LOVE OF NATIVE LAND

A letter in the Times of July 8 signed "A Faithful Canadian" and entitled "Canada First," inspired a few thoughts. The writer reveals her love and preference for Canada, her native country, though finding it desirable or expedient to live in the U.S.A.

Love for one's native land is eminently understandable no matter what country one lives in for any reason, and many Canadians no doubt will find the writer's sentiments praiseworthy.

However, it would be more praiseworthy on the part of some Canadians to extend the same understanding to Britishers and others who come to Canada to work and live.

When some of these Britishers or others express their love for their motherland and preference or admiration for some aspects of life there, they are sometimes told to go back where they came from, since their affections are there.

This is an ill-mannered intolerant remark to make to people who are probably desirable citizens.

"Loyalty" is a much higher quality of character to cherish in either natives or foreigners in these days, when a number of Canadians are giving their allegiance to a foreign ideology not derived from sentimental ties. EDITH WEBSTER.

1009 Burdette.

FILIBUSTER

The pitiful spectacle of Mr. Drew and his Tory Party carrying on the wordy filibuster in the House of Commons in opposition to granting the government special powers is just another concrete reason why the Conservative party will continue to wander in the political wilderness.

The absurdly flimsy argument that democracy is at stake will not be swallowed by the majority of the electors in Canada. It is about time Mr. Drew and his followers should realize that in this day and age the free governments of the world must be ever ready for any emergency and that the people of Canada must allow their government a free hand to act. President Eisenhower was granted special powers by an intelligent Congress and it is time the Tory party awoke from their blind lethargy.

It is interesting to note the remarks by Major-General Pearkes in a public statement made a few days ago as reported by the press. He stated that he was not too concerned about granting the government the special powers asked and went on to state that the government required special powers to act in case of an emergency. Incidentally, he even approved the government's policy of selling our surplus wheat to a Communist government... and why shouldn't we? Apparently, General Pearkes left Ottawa thoroughly disgusted with the old reactionary Conservative party at Ottawa. Maybe General Pearkes has even changed his mind about the B.C. Conservatives? SATIS VERBORUM.

G. A. W.

Referring to the much heralded G.A.W. (guaranteed annual wage). It makes one wonder whether U.S. branch plants and American controlled labor unions have too much power over the economic life of Canada. Presumably, the manufacturers will just collect any cost increases from consumers in higher prices and it will not cost them anything.

It is generally assumed that highly paid workers accustomed to seasonal layoffs are partly compensated for them in the regular wage. JOHN GILBERT.

QUEEN'S ENGLISH

The Queen's English is very largely what English authors make it. But in the matter of the third element in language, that of usage, it is neither the scholars nor the writers who rule, but the people. The usage of a word is established only by people using it in that particular way and although very often the ways people have with words may annoy the scholars in the end the scholars have always to give in. What begins as slang, as something alien by definition to the Queen's English, either dies or in time becomes idiom, that is part of the Queen's English. All sorts of words which are now part of the daily speech of educated men—"boom", "snob", "bookie", "slick" and "knock-out" are examples I can think of—were once words educated men would hesitate to use because they were words invented by the less educated commonality. —Maurice Cranston, on the B.B.C.

My Blood, Toil, Tears and Sweat

MY teachers told me not enough about the Great Wall of China, the Burma Road, the pyramids of Egypt and those of Yucatan. All they told me, or almost all, was that these stupendous constructions were done by hand.

Where they should have given me a great mound of information on which I could stand comfortably, they have given me only this thin needle of data, stuck upright so that I will tread on it and the needle will make its mysterious way through my foot, up inside my leg and trunk to stab me finally in the heart.

This is the little knowledge which is the dangerous thing.

My teachers have deluded me with a slogan. When I assay the physically impossible, I buttress my aspirations with the motto "The Burma Road was built by hand."

That sets me looking at my soft, white hands, so thoroughly complimentary to my soft, white head—and then I'm off building my own private Burma Road, my own Chinese Wall, my own pyramid. Currently the project is a basement under the proposed, and largely speculative, addition of two rooms to the shack at Shawinigan.

Only my vasty ignorance, which the kindlier folk call innocence, permits me to embark on the job. Shawinigan digging is something apart from ordinary excavating. Shawinigan digging has a fixed form to it. In Shawinigan ground one rock rests atop two larger rocks which recline on huge boulders that grow in size until they reach bedrock.

THE STUFF OF HEARTBREAK

Yet this is not the heartbreak of Shawinigan digging. The labor of Hercules resides in breaking the hardpan which embraces the stone—a hardpan which makes stone itself a comparative dough of softness.

Theoretically it is quite feasible for a flabby office worker in my state of decay to dig a Shawinigan basement. All he needs is a pick, shovel, wheelbarrow and the slogan

"built by hand." In fact, a flabby man has an advantage, or should have. When he reaches hardpan he can learn that this natural and well-cured concrete can be slightly softened by water. Be he fat and blubbery enough, the perspiration which pours from him as he swings a pick can irrigate his small excavation. This is theory.

But there is a countervailing influence, and this my teachers should have told me. According to some writers—the more gruesome type—ancient builders found a binding agent for their stones in blood. Hence, say the materialist interpreters, the sacrificial aspect of construction. The blood of the sacrifice was nothing more than glue to hold the stones together.

I BLEED

Now a man swinging a pick in his narrow niche of Shawinigan hardpan, strikes many small stones snuggled among the larger. A good pick will fracture a weak stone. Hit with sufficient force, the stone breaks and flies. Inevitably some fragments strike the picker, raising lumps on his shins and drawing blood. That precious fluid drips to the stones. The stones so treated become even more firmly cemented. There is something vicious in the cycle.

Seems slight relief can be achieved by tears. The drops flow from the eyes to the bloodied stones and help to dissolve the gluing agent. But it's a hard way to operate.

Unquestionably the man who creates his own basement at Shawinigan can point to it proudly with the words "Dug by hand," attains some virtue. Just what the virtue is, I'm not quite sure, but anything done the hard way—presumably impresses people.

Certainly, like Rome, the cellar at the lake won't be built in a day. But then, there's a vacation coming up. It won't have to be a 24-hour project.

And if a man wants to know more about this "built by hand" business, how better could he spend his vacation than getting and reading a few books from the library on the Chinese Wall, the Burma Road, the pyramids of Egypt and those of Yucatan? It'd be a whole lot easier than digging Shawinigan hardpan.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Finding the Right Doctor

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

One of the biggest problems facing many men and women today is that of finding the right doctor to diagnose and treat a rare disease. Too many persons spend thousands of dollars to find a little purpose before they find the right man. If he had only seen the patient at the start, he could have told him not to be examined again and again and operated on several times.

I will never forget the poor fellow who first got me to thinking about this problem, back around 1913. Today, physicians everywhere are so much better educated and so much more likely to use laboratories and X-ray departments that a man like this would now find it much easier to get a correct diagnosis.

The man was a farmer in the central valley of California who, when he began to feel tired and weak, went to a drug store and got from the clerk a bottle of tonic. When this did not help, he went to another drug store and got another tonic. Then he consulted the overworked general practitioner in the nearby small town. The doctor some larger nodes in the man's neck, he found nothing.

About this time, the man noticed a mass in the left upper part of his abdomen, and it began to hurt him to eat. He showed the lump to a doctor who thought it might be due to syphilis, so sent a sample of blood to the State Laboratory. When his hunch proved wrong, the doctor gave some medicine. When this did not help, the farmer went into the city of Fresno, where a physician felt the lump and said, "This should be a cancer of the stomach; go out to the hospital, and I will take it out tomorrow."

TRIED NEW RACKET

Assuming, as many do, that if he had a cancer, he should go to an advertising "cancer clinic," he looked in the paper and got the address of one. As usual, the man in charge turned out to be ex-convict and ex-confidence man trying "the medical racket" for a change. The quack agreed that the farmer had a cancer; and scared him so thoroughly that he got him to mortgage his farm and to turn over nearly all of the money for shots of a supposed serum.

When the patient was skin and bones, nearly broke, and no better, he realized he had been robbed, and left the quack. Then, after getting X-ray studies that showed that he had no cancer, he went to San Francisco, hoping to see a specialist. But, not knowing how to find one, he took the advice of the clerk in the skid row hotel in which he was staying, and got into the hands of another quack.

Later, hunting around, he found a nice doctor who pumped his stomach and analyzed the gastric juice, but this did not throw any light on the problem.

Finally, when the farmer's funds were about exhausted, he looked up the broker whose agents had formerly handled his crop for him, and this man told him of a fine doctor who had an enormous practice 40 miles away, in Palo Alto. The farmer went to Palo Alto where my old and greatly esteemed friend, Dr. Harry Reynolds, felt the abdomen and immediately saw that the tumor was an enormous spleen. Knowing that this almost certainly meant leukemia, Reynolds took a drop of the farmer's blood; he stained it, and, glancing at it with the microscope, he saw hundreds of the typically abnormal cells.

At last, the diagnosis was made, and made, and made correctly. Because, by then, the farmer had barely enough money for food and lodging, Reynolds did not charge him anything, but sent him to me, in San Francisco, with the request that I arrange with kindly, social service people at one of the great university medical schools for a free course of X-ray treatments. This I did; and this is how I happened to hear the story which I have just told.

PROBLEM STILL EXISTS

I was reminded of this farmer and his troubles when, today, I received a very happy letter from a man, an able professional musician, whom I saw some time ago for a few minutes. At that time he was so paralyzed by a nervous jitteriness that he could no longer play his instrument and earn his living. Telephoning to a friend of mine, a psychiatrist, I learned the name of a psychiatrist in the patient's big city, a man who was much interested in these "writer's cramp" types of neurosis. Now, the man writes that he went to the doctor and was quickly cured.

We of the medical profession are now puzzling over this problem of getting persons like the farmer and the musician quickly into the right hands. Often the secretary in the office of the local medical society will give three names of specialists, but without diagnostic skill, this girl may be unable to decide wisely what type of specialist is needed. Some day our medical societies will really tackle this problem and will solve it.

Man's Confession Of Baby Killing Now Called Hoax

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—A near-literate farm hand reversed himself after 23 hours Thursday and told police his story of kidnapping and raping two-year-old Donna Sue Davis of Sioux City, Iowa, was a hoax. Aubrey Brandt, 42, of La Porte City, Iowa, told acting detective captain John Showers he made up the story after hearing an account of the rape slaying over an automobile radio while riding in the vicinity of Sioux City.

Police continued to hold him on a vagrancy charge.

New Plants Can Keep Rock Garden Bright

July is a good month to view the rock garden with a critical eye.

The earlier months have brought a magic carpet of color, but now it is inclined to look drab.

Yet there are many rock plants which will flower well during the later months if we will only take a little trouble to look for them.

A visit to a nursery specializing in such plants will reveal countless treasures in flower and bud, and since many are grown for sale in pots they may be taken home at once and planted even on the warmest day. They will need a thorough watering only.

One delightful trailing plant is Androsace lanuginosa, which will tumble down any sunny slope and over the boulders.

Just commencing to bloom now, it will continue until September, its display of rosy-lilac flowers resembling tiny verbenas. The foliage is attractive also, having small, silvery, hairy leaves.

A surprise to many gardeners will be the finding of more than one variety of gentian to grace the summer and fall rock garden. Gentiana septiflida, Gasclepiadea, G. Farreri and G. sinuata will give practically continuous bloom from now until nearly Christmas.

Several of the rock campanulas will flower well during July and August, notably C. muralis (sometimes listed as C. portenschlagiana) and C. carpatia. C. pusilla flowers all during July.

Flowering late in a burst of fiery scarlet, is the California fuchsia, Zauschneria. It is practically a low branching shrub, a foot or two tall, covered in late summer and fall with spiked heads of bloom. Light loam among rocks, and full sunshine are its chief requirements.

Nelson Victor

PARIS (AP)—Vacationing Texan Byron Nelson won the French Open golf tournament Thursday with a 17-under-par 271 that topped a 14-country field.

The 43-year-old Nelson was tied at the halfway mark with Harry Bradshaw and Harry Weetman of Britain, but finished with a last-day score of 67-70. Weetman was second with 273 and Bradshaw was third with 275.

More Warnings Given To Erring Motorists

Panel That Decides on Licence Suspensions Getting Tougher; Program Showing Results

Motor Vehicle Branch panel which decides when a motorist's driving record is bad enough to warrant a licence suspension is "getting tougher," an official said today.

Proof of this was seen in the fact that in the first six months of this year suspensions jumped to 384, compared with 222 in the same period of 1954. In the same time, 1,019 warnings were sent out to erring drivers by the branch, almost double the figure in the first half of last year—550.

Suspensions made on police magistrates' recommendations are down slightly, from 900 last year to 813 this year.

"We are beginning to catch up with those drivers with poor records," a branch spokesman said. "We think the program is paying off."

He said people on the warning list "phone us from all over the country" when they commit

Two Youths Face Burglary Charge, Others to Come

Two 17-year-old youths—Deryl Smith, 645 Dunedin, and Donald Penner, Adelaide Avenue—were remanded to Tuesday for election and plea when faced in city police court Thursday with a breaking and entering charge.

They were transferred from juvenile court to city court.

Charge of breaking and entering and theft at Nixon's Confectionery, 3011 Gosworth, was read against the two youths.

A second charge of breaking and entering with intent to steal at Deighton's Service Station, 752 Caledonia, will be dealt with following completion of the first charge.

Smith and Penner were among four youths apprehended following break-ins last week-end.

The other two—Thomas E. Shirley, 19, 1740 Amphion, and Marvin W. Lee, HMCS Athabaskan, have pleaded guilty to breaking and entering with intent to steal from Deighton's.

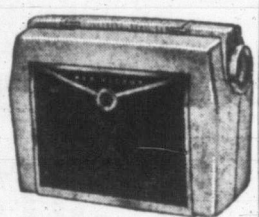

Shirley has also been charged and pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft at Nixon's.

All four suspects were arrested early Monday morning on Cook Street.

Ont., Quebec Fight 162 Forest Fires

By British United Press
Widely scattered showers were expected to help rangers and volunteers battle forest fires in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes today, but there was no sign of a heavy downpour that would drown them out.

Ontario government officials estimated that 142 bush fires were burning in the province and said 15 were out of control. Quebecers battled upwards of 20 major blazes, mostly along the north shore of the St. Lawrence River. In the Maritimes, 25,000 acres of once-rich timberland lay blackened under smoke palls in New Brunswick and the smoke and flames blew toward Nova Scotia.

Forests in parts of Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime provinces were closed to all but essential travel on the theory that

says the Man from Schweppes

THE GRAND panjandrum at the wheel is Commander Whitehead, the Schweppesman from England. Why does the Commander look happy? Because a case of Schweppes Ginger Ale is enough to insure the success of any evening's festivities. (Why is the chauffeur cross? Because the Commander never lets him take turns driving.)

And the most important question of all — what is there about Schweppes that makes it different from run-of-the-mill ginger ales?

Says Commander Whitehead — "One thing is, of course, Schweppes bubbles. Those irrepressible little bubbles that connoisseurs call Schweppervescence". Schweppes bubbles, you will notice, never waste themselves exploding in the bottle. Or even in your glass, as long as you don't disturb it. But when you drink Schweppes, you will find that each little bubble bursts upon your tongue, heightening the flavour of your drink.

The Schweppes people have had a smashing success with their Ginger Ale ever since they started bottling it here with imported essence. It is the emperor of all the ginger ales. Quite different from ordinary brands. Dry-er, with a true ginger flavour. And Schweppes costs no more than the ordinary ginger ale you are now drinking. Ask for Schweppes Ginger Ale wherever you go — and raise Cain if you don't get it.

P.S. Schweppes also make the original Tonic Water for authentic tonic drinks, and a great Club Soda. Enjoy the whole family of Schweppes world-famous beverages — Schweppes Tonic Water, Schweppes Ginger Ale and Schweppes Club Soda.

AVAILABLE at your grocer or local store BY THE BOTTLE, BY THE 6 BOTTLE CARTON and BY THE CASE.

Sunday will be visitors' day, when parents and friends of the youngsters may visit the camp and see how the girls spend a normal day. Brownies visited the camp earlier in the week.

Horse Racing May 24 Nanaimo Objective

NANAIMO—Establishment of horse racing at Beban Park, May 24, 1956, is the objective of the Vancouver Island Exhibition Association.

P. J. Piper, former city alderman, has been named to a committee to investigate the possibility of establishing racing at the 173-acre property, former estate of the late Frank Beban, well-known lumberman and owner of the Emerald Stock Farm racing stable.

With Mr. Piper on the committee are Andrew Vanger and J. B. McMinn. Other members will be added later.

The park already has a quarter-mile training track. The committee is considering proposals to establish special tracks for dog racing, stock car tilts, harness racing, and facilities for foot racing.

A party of mainland horsemen that visited Nanaimo recently to survey possible sites for horse racing included P. D. Gordon, of the B.C. Turf Club, operator of Lansdowne Park at Lulu Island.

With him were Stanley Hoskin and William Lohead, directors of the Island Turf Club, and Nels Jensen, Len Lucas, and James Hackett.

City council is in the process of turning the park, bought by the city for $50,000, over to the exhibition board.

New officers of the association are David Stupich, president; Mr. Piper, vice-president; Miss L. Morgan, secretary; T. D. James, treasurer; Ald. W. C. McGregor, Ald. Grant Williams, Stanley Dakin, W. Callick, and W. S. Oliver, directors.

Island Alderman Finds Vandalism 'Thorn in Flesh'

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — Thieving and vandalism have been a thorn in the flesh of city councils in Port Alberni for 30 years, said Alderman W. C. Hamilton.

He said he could remember scarcely one arrest in the many incidents which had annoyed city officials.

The comments followed a report from superintendent Len Crowshaw of theft of plumbing and other materials from army huts in Glenwood district. He suggested that an auction be held to dispose of remaining salvage.

TOFINO (CP) — The town hall in Tofino is going to be moved to make way for the new department of fisheries building. Construction of the building is expected to start soon.

JIM GOES GUNNING FOR TRIPLE TONIGHT

Large Jim Hetherington, a recent escapee from the spare goalie's seat on the Victoria Shamrock bench, goes for a grand slam tonight.

Hetherington was called out of moth balls this week and pressed into active duty when the club found it necessary to give regular goalie Gordy Johnston a pre-playoff rest.

Hetherington has responded in victorious style, holding the opposition at bay while Rocks defeated Mount Pleasant Indians and New Westminster Salmonbellies this week. Tonight, Hetherington will be back in the nets, looking for a third victory when the Rocks meet Vancouver Pilseners at Memorial Arena at 8:30.

This is like the lull before the storm.

Anybody doing anything on the golf course these days is doing it for the kicks.

Of course that doesn't include the gals who were, and are, competing in the B.C. Amateur at Quilchena this week.

And herein may lie Victoria's lost key to glory this year. The males, having done little to distinguish themselves outside their island realm this year, it falls to the lot of the fair sex to uphold what honor is left.

Take Marg Todd, Dot Herbertson and Shirley Naysmith for example.

By any yardstick this trio looms as what one might expect to see as the nucleus of the provincial team in the Canadian championships at Colwood next month. The overall tourney dates are Aug. 4-13.

The reasons are:

Marg and Dot got to the semis of the B.C. Amateur this week.

Dot is the past champion and maybe before the day is out she will be the present champion.

Shirley is the Victoria city champion, runner-up to the B.C. medalist, and ranks right behind Marg of the Victoria entrants in medal tests for places on the B.C. team. And Dot isn't too far behind.

The final medal round will be played Saturday at Quilchena. After that the B.C. team will be named.

So look for two Victoria girls to place, and maybe a third to show.

B.C. Team Cut and Dried

Now take the men. They have only that one chance left—in the B.C. Closed. Advice from the mainland is, as expected, that three positions have been filled on the Willington Cup team, with one spot being left open, for political reasons, to a possible Victoria selection.

The choice appears to lie between Bob Fleming and Bill McColl, with Laurie Kerr holding an outside chance. Rumor, well founded no doubt, says that Lyle Crawford, Doug Bajus and Bob Kidd need no more than they have done already to make the trip to Calgary in August.

And take it as gospel, if none of the three Victorians mentioned show to any particular advantage in the Closed (July 23-24 at Oak Bay) they make-up of the provincial team will have a complete mainland flavor.

But so be it for the present, because "Little Ben" is coming to Colwood. The lass who earned this title when winning the British Amateur two years ago, is Marlene Stewart of Ponthill, Ont., and once named winner of the Lou Marsh Trophy.

Bill's Suggestion Has Merit

And, on that subject, Bill Court, Colwood professional, has an idea worth passing along.

"Why not," says Bill, "have Marlene and one of the top city girls (Marg Todd, Shirley Naysmith or Dot Herbertson) play an exhibition match on Sunday (Aug. 7) with two city professionals."

The Sunday date falls between the Closed and the Open tournaments.

"Matches of this nature (a girl being paired with a pro in a four-ball) have proved popular in the States," adds Bill, "and it would give numerous fans, who otherwise may not have the opportunity, the chance of seeing Marlene in action."

"Of course it would be up to Marlene and whoever is picked locally," he added.

The thought is well taken; we leave it to the local committee for the Canadian tournament to pass further judgment on the proposal.

Marlene, incidentally, comes honestly by her "Little Ben" pseudonym. She stands five feet nothing, or, by comparison, is shorter than Dot Herbertson.

Here's a tip for week-end golfers, courtesy of Sports Illustrated, the clinic conducted by professional Gene Andersen says, throw away your driver, brassie and two, three and four irons, says Andersen; instead get a 1½ wood (more loft than a driver) and three, five and seven woods. With these clubs you won't need to be as exacting in your stroke as you would with the others; the club will do the work.

BUNKER BLASTS—Julius Boros, former U.S. Open champion once six-putted for 20 feet, but more to the point he took five strokes from four feet away, completely missing the ball once. . . . Guess he didn't take the club back with his left and hit the ball with his right. . . . we give you all the tips. . . . heard, too, that Eric Hiberson played six holes this week. . . . Pro Walter Gravin says jokingly that this constitutes a comeback for Eric. . . .

Sparling Near Title In Seniors' Tee Meet

George Sparling appeared like a shoo-in for the Island Seniors' golf championship today as the 54-hole event moved into its final day at Victoria Golf Club.

Oak Bay to Host Mainland Cricket Club

Oak Bay Cricket Club will meet Inco's Saturday afternoon at Windsor Park at 2:30 in a Victoria and District Cricket Association match. Sunday, the Oak Bay club will host South Hill Cricket Club of Vancouver in an all-day match at Windsor Park.

Saturday's Oak Bay lineup: J. Sparks, E. Parkinson, R. Stewart, J. Thornton, J. Merston, A. Kaye, A. Wright, D. Hanson, R. Ravenhill, B. Smith, C. Cuppich, C. Whiles.

PROCTOR, FOX SWING AT OFFICIALS

Salmonbellies Edge Tribe

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—New Westminster's Salmonbellies squeezed by Mount Pleasant Indians 12-11 here Thursday night in a rousing Inter-City Lacrosse League game before 700 fans.

Salmonbellies fought back from an 11-3 third-quarter deficit with seven unanswered goals in the fourth period to capture the win.

Indians violently protested the decision, with playing-coach Jake Proctor and Harold Fox taking swings at referees Ernie Smith and Ernie McDonald after the final whistle.

Proctor drew a 10-minute misconduct at 13:34 of the fourth quarter for arguing a check he had received. He was given a match misconduct for continuing the protest.

Cliff Sepka, New Westminster's leading scorer, notched the winning goal after Bert Houston had tied it up late in the final period.

Salmonbellies jumped into a 3-0 lead in the first period but were handcuffed in the second when Indians came back with three markers to deadlock the score 3-3. The visitors counted eight goals in the third, while Salmonbellies managed only two.

Vets Qualify For Ball Final

ANAF Vets advanced into the final of the Lower Island Juvenile Baseball League playoffs Thursday night, defeating Duncan, 9-4, at Athletic Park.

The victory gave ANAF their best-of-three semi-final in three games.

Gary Leibel with two doubles, and a single and Gary Gladson with three singles led the winners' 12-hit attack on two Duncan pitchers. Don McIntosh struck out eight batters for the victory.

Line score: R. H. E. Duncan 001 000-4 9 4 ANAF 101 000-12 4 0 McIntosh and Patterson, Philip Clark (4) and Schmidt.

Colwood Golf

Mrs. M. Whyte topped the monthly medal competition at Royal Colwood Golf Club Thursday with a score of 92-14-78. Bronze division leader was Mrs. R. H. Crane, 98-24-74. Monthly par round will be July 21.

Italians Lead

EDGBASTON, Eng. (AP)—Italy's strongly-favored Davis Cup tennis team won two singles matches from Britain Thursday and is expected to clinch a place in the European zone finals today.

Italy's Fausto Gardini defeated Billy Knight, 19-year-old left-hander, 7-9, 6-2, 6-4, and 21-year-old Nicola Pietrangeli whipped Roger Becker, also 21, 6-3, 7-9, 6-4, 8-6.

ROY RETURNS, BUT BROOKS LOSE DUKE

BROOKLYN (UP)—Catcher Roy Campanella returned today to the Brooklyn Dodgers' lineup apparently as good as ever but the National League leaders lost the services of three other players, including slugger Duke Snider.

Campanella came through with two hits in the Dodgers' 6-1 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday and reported no ill effects from catching the full nine innings.

Snider is bedded with a 104-degree temperature resulting from a virus infection.

In addition, manager Walt Alston revealed that Carl Erskine would be given a "complete rest cure of 10 days" and that southpaw Johnny Podres, who had a 7-6 mark, will also be rested indefinitely.

Crack Field Expected For Gold Cup

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (BUP)—The $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup, overshadowed in recent weeks by the performances of the sensational Swaps, today began shaping up as an attractive race which will draw from six to nine top thoroughbreds.

With entries scheduled to be taken today for Saturday's race, a strong field appeared in the making for the mile and a quarter classic which has the added attraction of carrying $100,000 net to the winner.

The flight here last week of Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast failed to frighten any of the major contenders from the race. A rundown of likely starters included Determine, Alton, Mister Gus, Porthouse and Trusting, in addition to Social Outcast.

Besides those, there was a chance that Rejected may go and the field could be increased by the addition of Six Fifteen, Marked Game and Novarullah.

White's Homer Helps

Esquimalt Athletics clipped Foresters, 8-3, at Heywood Avenue Park Thursday night, to move within one game of third place in the Senior B Men's Softball League standings.

Catcher Red White belted a two-run homer in the eighth inning.

Cameron in Finals Of City Net Tourney

Warren Cameron moved in to the men's singles final of the Victoria tennis championships Thursday night by defeating second-seeded Ron Mitchell, 10-8, 6-3, at Victoria Lawn Tennis Club.

The winner of tonight's match between defending titlist Peter Peacock and Ted Smythe will meet Cameron in the final Saturday.

After distinguishing themselves with two upset wins, Doc Miller and Gordon Hartley finally lost in the men's doubles; bowing to second-seeded Smythe and Carl Brand in the semifinals, 8-10, 6-2, 6-2.

All tournament finals are scheduled for Saturday afternoon starting at 1:15.

Tonight's draw follows:

8:30—Peacock vs. Smythe; Mrs. Lyons vs. Miss Gira Origoletto; Miss Butt vs. Miss B. Okell; Butt and Mitchell vs. Dunbar and Parker.

8:45—J. and B. Butt vs. Mrs. Lyons and Smythe (from 8:30 third set); Miss Gira Origoletto vs. Miss Okell and Cameron; Miss F. Martin vs. Mrs. D. McCormack; R. Miller vs. E. Hedley.

Post entries will be accepted.

THREE CANADIANS VIE FOR BISLEY HONOR

BISLEY, England (CP)—Three Canadians qualified today for the final phase of the Queen's prize, main event of the Bisley rifle shoot.

They are Capt. Bill Newell of Winnipeg, adjutant of the Canadian team; Sgt. J. H. Blais, of Montreal, and Cpl. K. G. Forster, of Calgary. Blais and Forster, also team members, had 140, and Newell 141 out of 150. Qualifying score was 140.

The Canadians will shoot Saturday, along with seven other successful overseas competitors and a number of British entrants.

B.C. GOLF FINAL TODAY

Dorothy In, Margaret Out

VANCOUVER (CP)—Defending champion Dorothy Herbertson of Victoria meets Sheila Ross of Vancouver Marine Drive today in the 36-hole final of the B.C. Women's Closed Amateur Golf Tournament.

Miss Herbertson scored a decisive 5 and 3 win over Katie Duff-Stuart of Vancouver Shaughnessy Thursday to gain a spot in the final.

The Gorge Vale star, who placed second to vaunted Marlene Stewart in the 1954 Canadian Championships, has played steady golf through the five-day tourney.

Youth held the edge on experience when Miss Ross nosed out Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria in the other semi-final.

Miss Ross, who has never won as much as a club championship, hung on grimly for her 1 up victory over the former B.C. champion.

She made the semi-finals by upsetting medalist Mrs. E. L. Buchanan of Marine Drive 5 and 3 Wednesday.

Druggists Gain Final

Running the bases with gay abandon, McCall-Davey swamped Menzies Fuel, 11-0, at Beacon Hill Park Thursday night to move into the Babe Ruth League final against Optimists.

The Druggists stole a total of 20 bases in running Menzies Fuel into the ground in the third game of their best-of-three semi-final. Rod Skillings and George Haynes, who knocked out three singles apiece, led in base thefts with five each.

Gary Lawrence spun a neat two-hitter for the victory, his second of the series. He struck out 12 batters and walked four.

WORKOUT CANCELLED

Victoria Junior Shamrocks' scheduled workout tonight has been cancelled and rescheduled for Sunday morning at 10 at the Esquimalt box.

Halkett's Homer

Deciding Blow

Murray Halkett's home run with one out in the last of the seventh inning gave Mawson-Gage a 7-5 decision over Jaycees in Pony League baseball action at Carnarvon Park Thursday.

The victory, Mawson-Gage's second in as many nights, put them in a tie for fifth place.

Halkett's homer, along with a double and a single, gave him a three-for-four evening at the plate. Barry Harvey led the losers with a triple and a single.

Line scores follow:

R. H. E. Jaycees 101 001 6-7 4 Mawson-Gage 200 001 2-7 10 Butch Rivers and Russ Ashworth; Billy Hobbis and Dave Wort.

On The OUTDOOR FRONT

With DENNY BOYD

I've always been of the opinion that the phrase "hunting accident" is a misnomer.

Inspector George Stevenson of the Game Office is inclined to agree; he says that of the shooting mishaps that occur in the woods every hunting season, only about 5 per cent could be classed as accidents—that is, only one out of 20 woods shootings results from causes other than human failings or carelessness. It means further that 95 per cent of the so-called accidents that occur, hunters being shot by their own, or other hunters' carelessness, could be avoided by proper precautions and a better understanding and respect for firearms.

Thus, it was refreshing to speak to general Ed Conklin, of Butler, New Jersey, Thursday night.

Ed and his son, Ed Jr., are making a brief stop in Victoria before heading up-Island for a Campbell River fishing junket with Frank Russell, former prexy of the Victoria Fish and Game Association.

Mr. Conklin makes his living as a high school teacher but he has made his fame as a conservationist and as an instructor of embryo hunters. He won the Neil Award in 1953 as the state's outstanding conservationist. His high school has a registration of 1,300 pupils. No less than 50 per cent of them hunt. On the first day of deer season last year, 272 boys were absent from school.

The cause of such hunting enthusiasm is Ed's Junior Sportsmen's Club, an extra-curricular activity within the school, founded by Ed in 1937. It seems hard to believe, but since 1937, not one of Ed's Juniors has ever been involved in even a minor hunting accident. This covers close to 5,000 young hunters, ranging from 14 to 18 years of age.

"You can't legislate safety," says Ed. "You must teach the urge to hunt safely and you must start with the youngsters. Teach them the game laws, the proper respect for firearms and they will be safer to hunt with than the old-timers who have taught themselves by breaking all the rules."

Ed is fighting to have the program of his club worked into the curriculum of every state high school. Chances are, he'll succeed. For five years he fought with the state legislature to make it compulsory for every youngster to take a hunting-safety test before being issued a hunting licence. On January 1 his dream became a state law; every youngster from 14 to 18 must take safety instruction and pass a test before entering the woods with a gun. Ed tried to make the law inclusive for all ages but the governor of the state vetoed the move because "it might embarrass someone."

But Ed is still fighting. He feels that embarrassed hunters are not nearly so dangerous as careless hunters.

No-one has asked me but if anyone ever did, I'd tell them that my favorite magazine is Field and Stream. In my opinion, regular contributors like Al McClane, Ted Trueblood, Bob Ruark and Corey Ford put this publication far ahead of the competition. . . . and now, speaking of bass, if you are using deep running plugs for the bronze-backs, try attaching a small feathered jig to the rear of the plug. Also, don't overlook grasshoppers, crickets and worms for warm weather bait fishing. Jim Tang caught a 40-pounder in Saanich Inlet Tuesday. And, let's face it, that is a lot of codfish. . . . Andy Anderson, Anglers' president, has dieted away 30 pounds in the last six weeks and is aiming at shedding 10 more, to get him down to a svelte 200. But the Percy J. won't seem the same without those gargantuan meals. . . . This Sunday it is the Victoria Shamrock Derby, with Norm Shearing and B.C. Cement Co. tossing the wing-ding. . . . And the following Sunday, it is the Anglers-Times Solarium Derby and have you bought your ticket yet? South Vancouver Island Anglers are holding a Cabaret Dance Monday night at 8 at their clubhouse.

FISHING CAPSULE—Mostly you'll have more success going for salmon than for trout. Saanich Inlet is producing fish but not in proportion to the number of fishermen. In the inlet, big Springs can be taken deep, using the Strip-Trainer, with or without flasher, and the Mac's Squid Plug. Watch the tide tables. A few coho are beginning to show their inquisitive noses in Deep Cove but the best of that is yet to come. Ditto Oak Bay and ditto Brechele Lake. Small Springs are taking in Cowichan Bay, for plugs and spoons around the CNR wharf with the odd bigger one hitting in the Separation Point area.

Qualicum and Parksville waters have been giving up coho to bucktail fishermen but just hope you don't get up there when the blackfish are in the area. Comey Harbor and Bates Beach have been hot for the spring fishermen, especially for those using the Toss Stick-fisher rigging. At Campbell River, bluebacks are still showing but they are taking a back seat to the Spring run in the Channel. Plugs with no more than four ounces of weight are getting Springs of all weights, up to the Tye class.

The trout picture can be covered pretty quickly. Close to home, there's not much but Shawanaga and Beaver's Lakes and they are both quite good for both fly and troll fishing.

Up-Island, the Neashame area is suffering through its summer slack period. Comey Lake is exceptionally good at the top end for bait or trolling and most of the lake and river around Alberni, particularly Cameron Lake, Log Lake, Great Central Lake and the Stamp and Spruce Rivers are good. At Campbell River, sea-run trout have dropped off but lake fishing has picked up with limit catches coming out of Fry, Boat, Upper Campbell and Lower Campbell Lakes.

LADDER DERBY
With the promise of favorable fishing weather up-coming for the week-end, a total of 46 of the 50 available rungs have been at least temporarily filled in the seventh week of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association Ladder Derby.

The total was swelled Thursday when 11 fish were weighed in for qualifying positions and for the weekly cash prizes for the biggest fish.

St. Louis Cardinals unveiled in the first game of the exhibition season last spring, is still a mystery man for Brooklyn Dodgers.

He's picked the Dodgers, of all people, to prove he belongs. The 24-year-old right-hander had them playing dead again Thursday night, winning 6-1 after shutting out the National League leaders for 8 1-3 innings.

It was Jackie Robinson's double and Carl Furillo's single that spoiled a second shutout for Jackson against the Brinks. He and Milwaukee's Bob Buhl are only two pitchers to blank the Dodgers this season.

The defeat, Brooklyn's third straight and 11th in the last 20 games, pared the Dodgers' lead over Milwaukee to 10½ games. The second-place Braves brushed off Philadelphia Phils 7-1. New York Giants edged up on Chicago Cubs 3-2 and Cincinnati Redlegs walloped Pittsburgh Pirates 19-1.

In the American, Cleveland Indians pulled to within four games of New York by beating the Yankees 5-4 and third place Chicago White Sox moved to within a half-game of the Indians by sweeping a two-nighter from Washington Senators 13-4 and 5-2. Boston Red Sox split with Detroit Tigers, losing 6-0 and then winning 7-3. Baltimore Orioles kept their evening - night twin bill against the Athletics at Kansas City, 10-7 and 6-4.

Manly Stanley Musial, the fellow who won the all-star game, hit his 20th homer and Wally Moon smacked his 12th as the Cards pounded four Brook pitchers for 11 hits in support of Jackson's fifth victory. The Brooks got just

Two 'Dodos' Whacked At Gyro Fun Carnival

A professional golfer, Phil Taylor of the Victoria Golf Club Thursday nailed a hole-in-one in the Gyro's, four-day carnival now underway in Victoria High School grounds. He has made three wins in the three last carnivals. Payoff is $50 per win. He wasn't alone. Ben Hunt of 1459 Vining also hit the jackpot in the 90-yard fairway yesterday.

Proceeds from the festival go towards construction of the Gyro-sponsored Cadboro Bay Park.

Strait conqueror Bert Thomas will be the centre of attraction when the carnival opens at 8 tonight.

The show reopens at 2 p.m. Saturday, designated children's day, and free pop and balloons will be given to all youngsters accompanied by parents. The big prize, a $650 boat and outboard motor, will be drawn from tickets during the evening.

Turncoat Says All Ex-PWs Want to Return

KOBE, Japan (UP)—An American turncoat returning to the United States said today that all U.S. ex-prisoners who refused repatriation at Panmunjom after the Korean war now want to go home.

He said 18 more Americans who chose to stay with the Communists will be crossing the Hong Kong border "in the very near future."

Otto G. Bell, 24, Hillsboro, Miss., broke away from the leadership of "spokesman" William Cowart and told his story about the liner President Cleveland.

Only Communist intimidation and the fear of U.S. courts are keeping the rest of the ex-prisoners in Red China, Bell said.

"I talked to all of them before I left," Bell said. "They are very afraid. They told me they just didn't have the guts to face U.S. military courts."

Bell said Communist Chinese officials informed all American ex-prisoners they had been sentenced to death by the U.S. supreme court.

Ottawa Grant For Victoria May Be Upped

Recent changes in the Municipal Grants Act are expected to boost an Ottawa grant to Victoria in lieu of taxes on federal property to $74,000 in contrast to actual payment of $1,585 in 1954 and an estimated $50,780 in the 1955 budget.

City comptroller Dennis A. Young announced the city has asked the increased grant following a federal announcement that grants in lieu of taxes will be paid on all property owned by the federal government valued over 2 per cent of the total city assessment.

Previously the grant was only paid where federal property represented more than 4 per cent. Also the grant was previously only 75 per cent of what taxes would have been. Now the grant will be equal to the full municipal tax.

AT THE ART GALLERY English Watercolors Seen at Their Best

By GWLADYS DOWNES
The water colors of Sir William Russell Flint, R.A., P.R.W.S., on view at the Art Gallery until the end of this month, belong to the traditional school of English landscape painting which has produced so many fine artists and which is, indeed, part of the cultural heritage of the English-speaking world.

The insight and mastery with which Sir William handles his medium is particularly evident in the landscapes where both buildings and the human figure are absent. Unimpeded by literary reminiscences or the conventional picturesque, the artist seizes the true relationship between the natural masses of cloud, trees, water, and air, and translates these into satisfying pictorial form. "Rain on the South Downs," "The Wood Below the Hill," and "East of Ben Vorlich" appealed to me most of all.

The city scenes, which are painted usually in Italy, are notable for their subtle handling of light and shade, and the play of sun on stones of different colors and textures. "Ponte Vecchio" and "In a Segovian Street" illustrate the artist's understanding of the warmth of the South as opposed to the cool freshness of the English landscape.

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—Sightless United States army veteran, Charles Bishop, 31, who sells newspapers on Main Street here, gave back the $10,000 that residents of the community gave to him 10 years ago—plus interest. After war, a collection of $10,368 was taken up to be used to establish Bishop in business. Today he gave the city a cheque for $12,000—the collection plus the interest gathered from investments. The money is to be used for a community swimming pool.

AMONG THE KEY FIGURES in Vancouver police probe are four shown here as they waited for session to begin. From left, Ray Munro, former reporter for Toronto tabloid Flash, whose articles played a major role in forcing probe; Jack Whelan, former detective and Munro's bodyguard; Det.-Sgt. Robert Leatherdale and Det.-Sgt. Archie Plummer.

Police Probe Waits 10 Days for Key Figure's Story

never be able to tell his story. His physician, Dr. Charles Gould, said any evidence Cuthbert gave would not be reliable because of his "distressed" mental condition.

Vancouver Mayor Hume, ex-mayor Charles Thompson, former B.C. attorney-general Gordon S. Wismer are among those expected to testify at the resumed hearings.

Neil Fleischman, counsel for reporter Ray Munro — whose articles in a Toronto tabloid, Flash, stirred the police department investigation — asked Thursday that these three and 13 others be subpoenaed by the Royal Commission. Munro has tendered his resignation from the staff of Flash, effective Aug. 7.

Others on the list are: Bill Cooper, described as a top man in Vancouver gambling circles; Bruce Snider and Leo Bancroft, alleged bookmakers mentioned earlier in the hearings; and Pete Wallace, who allegedly offered a $5,000 monthly payoff to the head of the gambling squad.

William "Blondie" Wallace, brother of Pete and an alleged bootlegger, is also on the list.

TOP POLICE OFFICIALS

Prominent among police names on the list are Alan Hoare, and Supt. Pete Lamont. Hoare, sharp-shooting hero of one of Vancouver's wildest gun battles, once headed the gambling detail.

Former alderman Roland G. Gervin, charged by one witness to have been a partner in a "round-the-clock, round-the-calendar" gambling club, also is on the list. Joe Celona, described as aging, one-time czar of vice and crime in Vancouver, often mentioned at the hearings, also may be subpoenaed.

A heated wrangle among lawyers, about notes attributed to Cuthbert, featured Thursday's hearing.

Superintendent Harry Whelan said he took the notes in a series of interviews with Cuthbert and the detective signed them in the early morning of last June 24.

Minutes later, Cuthbert — who is still in hospital — was found wounded with a bullet from his own gun.

T. G. Norris, counsel for suspended chief Walter Mulligan, and Lyle Jestley, lawyer for Supt. Jack Horton, said Cuthbert signed the notes under "intimidation, threats and promises."

Both protested that the evidence was inadmissible.

H. A. D. Oliver, counsel for Cuthbert, said admission of the notes "at this time" might be detrimental to his client's case. Commissioner Tupper delayed his decision until the hearings resume.

"I haven't heard anything about threats but that might come out in cross-examination," Mr. Tupper said.

Supt. Whelan said Cuthbert during an interview June 14 was "frightfully agitated and worried" about his future and thought he might "lose his job or go to the penitentiary."

Whelan said he asked Cuthbert if the chief had ever made any proposition to him.

"Left-handed ones," Whelan quoted Cuthbert. "I'm supposed to look after my friends and split equally with the chief any money I get from gamblers."

Whelan said Cuthbert had told him he had paid deputy chief Gordon Ambrose and Supt. Horton $100 a month.

Whelan said he asked why Cuthbert had told him this and the reply was "he was afraid the chief would leave him holding the bag."

Whelan said Cuthbert had agreed to see city prosecutor Stewart McMorran at 8 a.m. last June 24. He signed the notes of the conversations and minutes afterwards shot himself. He did not see the prosecutor.

At this point Mr. Jestley and Mr. Norris interrupted to claim the signature was obtained under pressure.

Mr. Norris said the evidence was totally inadmissible on the grounds that it was obtained under threats and because Cuthbert was mentally disturbed. He referred to Dr. G. A. Gould's affidavit of non-attendance submitted Wednesday which said Cuthbert "could not safely be relied upon as an accurate witness" at this time.

In other developments Thursday, Det. George Kitson said he had been at a meeting when Pete Wallace, already named as a leading gambler, told of a meeting where Wallace "tried to make a fix" with Cuthbert.

Earlier the crowded courtroom, sweltering in the heat of the city's hottest days this summer, had heard Det. Sgt. Archie Plummer, former head of the gambling squad, say that he and several other officers "are convinced chief Mulligan, and one or two others perhaps, are allied with the criminal element in this city."

Plummer stated he is sure Mulligan was involved in a bookmaking "conspiracy" between 1951 and 1953. Det.-Sgt. Robert H. Leatherdale, at one time in charge of the liquor detail, said Cuthbert collected protection money from bootleggers and split it with Mulligan and other senior officers.

Plummer testified he was told Mulligan "had everything fixed in Victoria" and was "close to Gordon Wismer," at that time attorney-general of British Columbia. (In Victoria, Mr. Wismer declared: "There is not a bit of truth" in that statement. He also said "I certainly want to testify.")

"Jack Whelan, former police man who resigned from the force in 1946 and a brother of Supt. Whelan, said he had been trying for years to expose what he called the "grossly inefficient" police commission and the "gambling-dominated athletic commission."

LETTER NEVER MAILED

Whelan had written a letter, but never mailed it, to the attorney-general last fall about police conditions. He said he had been interviewed by city prosecutor Stewart McMorran, who told him:

"Jack, you could blow this whole thing open."

For "mutual protection" he was a bodyguard to reporter Ray Munro, ex-writer for the Toronto weekly Flash, whose stories on corruption in the force preceded Cuthbert's suicide attempt and the hearings. His salary—$80 a week was paid by Munro and Bill Forst, managing editor of the Vancouver Province, Munro's former employer, he said.

Bad Cheques Blamed On Smooth Teen-Ager

A soft-spoken youth about 19 is being sought by Greater Victoria police forces in connection with a current wave of bad cheque passing.

Police say the teen-ager is believed responsible for obtaining over $170 in cash and groceries from small store operators in this area.

He is described as about five feet eight inches tall, with sharp, clean-cut features and fair complexion.

Descriptions from six city stores swindled in the past three weeks are the same, police say. The youth walks into stores, orders groceries and then pays for them with a cheque.

Names and addresses given on the personal cheques have proved fictitious when checked by banks.

Cheques range in amounts from $10.50 to $50. Largest swindle was reported Thursday when P. A. Gandolfo, 1111 Yates, received a $20 worth cheque for $3 worth of groceries and $17 cash.

Calgary Parade Revives Color Of Olden West

CALGARY (CP)—The early history of the West was brought to life Thursday night at the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede when the story of Alberta passed in a colorful golden jubilee review before an estimated 20,000 persons.

From buffalo to wild horse and explorers to soldiers the parade revived the past.

Calgary's Workshop 14, an amateur theatre group, members of the Fort Macleod Old-timers' Association and Indians of the Stoney, Sarcee and Blackfoot tribes made up the bulk of the cast.

Five fully-grown buffalo and a calf, herded around the grandstand race track by Indian riders, led the procession.

Many pioneers of the West were depicted—French explorer Le Verendrye, the Hudson's Bay Company's Anthony Henday; David Thompson, who mapped the river which bears his name; Father Lacombe; Kootenai Brown, discoverer and later first warden of Waterton Lakes National Park, and others.

W. German Bundestag Okays Army Measure

BONN (AP)—The Bundestag today quickly approved measures to call up the first 6,000 volunteers for the new West German armed forces this summer.

In a three-hour session the lower house:

1. Gave final approval to a bill setting up a civilian panel with veto rights to approve the appointment of all officers of the rank of colonel and above.
2. Approved in the crucial second reading the "volunteer bill" authorizing the defence ministry to enlist a maximum of 6,000 volunteer specialists to begin the task of setting up the armed forces.

Final lower house approval of the "volunteers bill" Saturday is a foregone conclusion. Then both bills go to the Bundestag upper house for final approval July 22.

The bill lays down that a maximum of 6,000 volunteers may be called up but stipulates they may not be organized into fighting units.

The defence ministry explained they are needed to fill staff job at NATO headquarters, increase the military section of the ministry and attend first training courses for instructors.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Whatever has become of the old-fashioned bedroom slipper? One would think, with all the scientific advances of this modern and enlightened age, the bedroom slipper would have reached a high point in its long and honored career. But has it?

No. The bedroom slipper has all but disappeared from the land. In the good old, bedroom slipper days, it was routine for dear old dad to stagger home from the office (or wherever he had been before staggering home); to collapse in his favorite arm chair; and to have his adoring wife and gaily-laughing children bring him his bedroom slippers. Nowadays, when dear old dad staggers home, his adoring wife starts to beef about the high cost of ready-mixed hamburger patties, and his adoring children put the bite on him for (a) the use of the car and (b) the price of a gallon of gas. And dear old dad stamps up and down in a fine rage and a pair of hard-heeled shoes.

The strange part of the decline and fall of the old-fashioned bedroom slipper is that it is more than ever an essential these days.

When the slipper was in its hey-day, nearly everybody lived in houses set apart from other houses.

If the occupants of the houses chose to stamp up and down in ski boots (with or without skis), the noise they heard was but their own.

[Now more and more people live in suites, apartments, duplexes.

And each clack of down-thumping heel brings the neighbors one step closer to the brink of insanity.

Thus it is hard for my feeble mind to understand why people don't take off their shoes and put on slippers when they get home.

Slippers are wonderful for the feet of those who wear them, and for the ears of those who can't hear them. (If I make myself clear, it's no fault of mine.)

Let us all get together and attempt to bring back the old-fashioned bedroom slipper.

Either that, or let us all move to Japan, where they have sense enough to take off their shoes before they enter a house.

BERT THOMAS

Two Men Injured In Car Collision Downtown Today

A middle-aged man was admitted to hospital with multiple lacerations and another was treated for a badly injured left hand following an early-morning accident at Vancouver and Johnson.

Jubilee Hospital authorities said Frank Storkhule, 49, 1202 Fort, received multiple lacerations to the head, face, throat and left hand. He also suffered chest bruises. Alfred Paquin, 42, 1134 View, was treated for cuts and an injured hand.

Police said the accident occurred at about 6:30 a.m. when a car driven west on Johnson by Paquin collided with another car proceeding south on Vancouver.

Driver of the other car was Gordon Thomas Steven Perkins, 2730 Queenswood. Damage to the two old-model cars was heavy. Storkhule was a passenger in the Paquin auto.

FREE SHOW

Bert Thomas Fund Total Now $385

The mayor's fund for Bert Thomas jumped by $175 overnight to $385 as plans progressed for the Junior Chamber of Commerce "Victory Jamboree" Saturday night at Memorial Arena.

The celebration to which the Jaycees invite "all Greater Victorians" will get under way at 8 p.m.

All proceeds from a collection will go directly to the Juan de Fuca Strait swim champion. The Jaycees point out it will be another direct way in which the people here can express their feelings of appreciation for both recognition and prestige the swimmer has brought to this city.

Free admittance tickets will be available at the arena to-night and at Eaton's Saturday and at the arena again prior to the show.

Entertainers are providing their talents and time free of charge to honor Bert for his wonderful swim.

In addition, Saturday night he will receive the signal honor of being made a Freeman of the City of Victoria. Mayor Claude Harrison will preside and aldermen will also be present, as well as reeves of the surrounding municipalities.

The Jaycees have undertaken the show as a public service, and don't want anyone turned away, ticket or no ticket.

"Let's make it a tangible reward, apart from the cheers," a chamber spokesman said today.

WILL RECEIVE FREEDOM

The formal presentation to Bert of the Freedom of the city will take place at 9 p.m.

The arena is putting on facilities for the big show free of charge, while many city firms have also donated services to honor the hero of the strait.

Patrons will be asked to give whatever they wish to the fund for Bert.

The variety program will feature well-known singers, dancers, Gordon King's orchestra, hill-billy imitations, the Victoria Girls' Drill Team and a host of other entertaining items.

Bert has been in Tacoma and elsewhere in Washington visiting friends. He returned to Victoria early this afternoon.

Further Remand For Boy Burglars

Thomas E. Shirley, 1740 Amphion, and Mervin W. Lee, HMCS Athabaskan, were again remanded for sentence when they appeared in city police court today on charges of breaking and entering.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall remanded the two youths to Wednesday.

Shirley and Lee pleaded guilty to breaking into Deighton's Service Station, 752 Caledonia, and Shirley also pleaded guilty to a break-in at Nixon's Confectionery, 3011 Gosworth.

Esquimalt Member Wants Younger Man

Mrs. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, said today he thinks it "unlikely" he will be a candidate in the next federal election.

"My present inclination is not to run again... I think a young man should take my place, and feel inclined to make way for a younger man."

However, General Pearkes, chief opposition military critic in the federal House, said "anything could happen" between now and the next federal contest.

Gen. Pearkes' retirement plans arose during a conversation with a newsman before leaving Ottawa for a holiday early this month.

"I cannot foresee any set of circumstances whereunder I will be a parliamentary candidate again," he is reported to have stated.

Gen. Pearkes said this morning that "I'm 67 now, and if the next election is held three years from now, I'll be 70." He said he wanted to "spend more time" with his family.

PRINCESS HERE OCT. 15 TO 20

Dates were announced today for the fall visit to Victoria of the Princess Royal, colonel-in-chief of the Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) Regiment.

She will be here from Oct. 15 to 20 as guest of her regiment.

She is scheduled to arrive at Quebec City via liner on September 29 and will visit nine other major cities across Canada en route here.

Milk Drivers Reject Award

Dispute of Victoria milk drivers and dairy employees with three local dairy firms over a 1955 wage contract may drag on another month before results of a conciliation report are acted upon.

Victoria employees have already been awarded parity in wage and working conditions with Vancouver dairy workers, but an award to nearly 1,000 mainland milkmen was rejected by them Thursday on grounds it did not cover fringe benefits.

Victoria branch of the union will wait for a new conciliation report to be handed down within 28 days before it takes further action. It has already voted to apply for permission to strike if the Vancouver award is rejected by mainland milkmen again.

Two faculty members of the Summer School of Education will discuss "The Beginner at School" on the weekly PTA program, heard over CJVI, Sunday at 9:30 a.m. They are Miss Phyllis Bowers, assistant professor of education at Macdonald College, McGill University, and Miss Muriel A. Caldwell, assistant professor of education at the University of Alberta.

Hers is the first case reported since early spring. There have been two fatalities this year, one a carry-over from the 1953 epidemic.

Medical administrator Dr. J. Murray Anderson said at noon today the little girl's case is not considered serious.

Caught By Wind in Harbor Freighter Dodges Damage

Holland-America Lines' Ss. Arndt came close to leaving a portion of her stern from the Wagner Stein and Green wharf as a sou'wester breeze blew her into Ogden Point this morning.

The 439-foot converted C-2 freighter ran into trouble as she was approaching the pier at dead slow speed. A gust of wind caught her stern, and swung the ship at a 45-degree angle, her bow pointed at pier A, her stern swinging inexorably toward the opposite wharf.

Restaurateur Would Stand Down If Better Man Found

Elmer D. McEwen, city restaurant operator, announced his candidature for mayor of Victoria today, but said he will withdraw if a stronger candidate can be found to make it a two-way race against Mayor Claude Harrison.

Mayor Harrison had announced Thursday he intends to stand for a third term.

Mr. McEwen has been a driving force in a recent campaign to build a civic auditorium independent of city hall through a bond issue by local businessmen. If he wins office he will back construction of the auditorium as part of a ten-point platform which he will announce later.

He said also he will seek immediate action on a new Point Ellice bridge and reclamation of the Gorge waterway as an aquatic playground.

Pinball machines "will have to go," he stated and he wants a smarter dress uniform for city police similar to that of RCMP.

DEFEATED IN 1952
Mr. McEwen was defeated in 1952 provincial general election when he sought a seat in the Legislature as a Social Credit candidate. He is a son-in-law to Minister of Public Works W. N. Chant.

Mr. McEwen indicated that he would ask the taxpayers to accept an increased mill rate in order to build a new Point Ellice bridge. "People don't worry too much about the increase; it's the wasteful spending," he added. He said the present city council is racked with indecision. "Victoria has become a laughing stock to the rest of the country..."

He said he would run as an independent candidate and predicted he would receive support of the local business group. His campaign manager will be S. C. Joyce. However, "If a stronger candidate appears, I will withdraw," he said.

The mayor's last two victories have been aided by the fact that four candidates ran for mayor in 1951 and five in 1953.

WANTS ACTION

Mr. McEwen said that if another candidate appears and claims sufficient support, he will withdraw in his favor. He said he wants to see things done in a common sense way as quickly and fairly as possible. "It's not who's right, but what's right."

Born in Mount Forrest, Ont., he is 32 years old. He is of Scottish ancestry and descended from United Empire Loyalists. He managed a dairy in Ontario before the war, leaving to join the army in 1942. Later, he managed a store department at Camrose, Alberta, for two years before coming here in 1947.

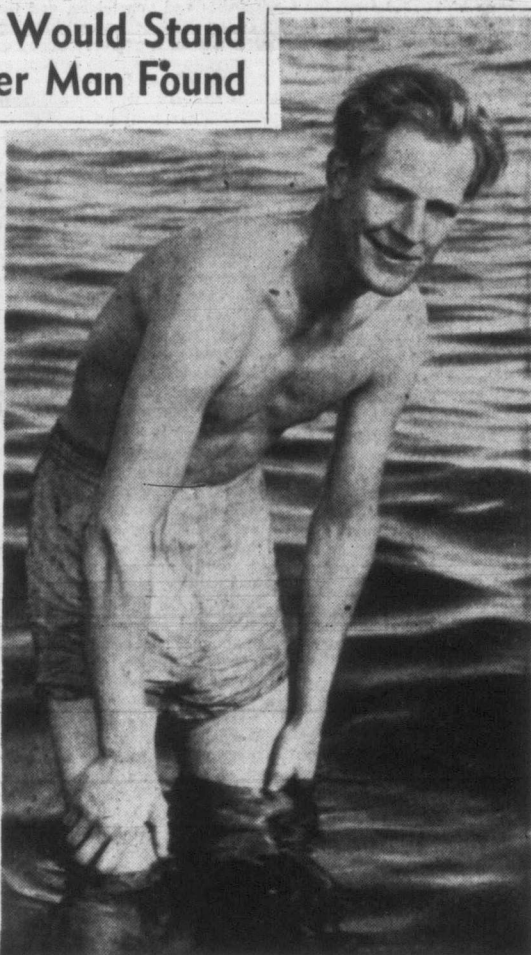

He was active in organization of the Social Credit party in this area.

City 3-Year-Old New Polio Case

A three-year-old Victoria girl was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital today with poliomyelitis.

Hers is the first case reported since early spring. There have been two fatalities this year, one a carry-over from the 1953 epidemic.

Medical administrator Dr. J. Murray Anderson said at noon today the little girl's case is not considered serious.

"IN GOOD SHAPE NOW" German immigrant John Giese is confident he can give Juan de Fuca Strait a "real stiff battle" after lasting only 40 minutes in icy water in first channel swim attempt on April 14, the same night Bert Thomas made first plunge for Port Angeles and failed. (Times photo.)

Strait Swim Attempt Scheduled Tonight

German immigrant John Giese will make his second attempt on Juan de Fuca Strait tonight at 8 if favorable weather keeps water calm, he said at noon today.

The Vancouver laborer, who spent 40 minutes in the Strait April 14, the night of Bert Thomas' first swim attempt, and was hauled out in a state of shock, has been training up to five hours a day in English Bay and off Stanley Park in Vancouver in preparation for this try.

Giese has impressed fisherman Alf Webb, who piloted Bill Muir on his initial attempt to cross to Port Angeles, and Webb has agreed to be navigator tonight.

Take-off spot will be Gonzales Pt., where Muir started his first nine-mile swim before cramps caused him to give up. Using a breast stroke at the rapid pace of 60 strokes a minute, Giese spent 2 1/2 hours in the water off Oak Bay and Cadboro Bay Thursday.

Saanich swimmer Muir said today his third attempt, the second swimming from Victoria, may be made within two weeks.

Impaired Driving Charge Unproved, City Man Freed

A city man today won dismissal on an impaired driving charge when Magistrate Henry C. Hall ruled in city police court that the Crown had failed to prove its case.

Charged following an early-morning accident at Bay and Cook on April 23 was Arthur William Mason, 1252 Denman.

Police said Mason told them he was driving east on Bay at about 12:30 a.m. and had stopped for a stop sign before attempting to cross the intersection.

They said the accused admitted having "three or four beer." Court was told that Mason was unsteady on his feet, his voice was slurred and his breath smelled of alcohol.

Two witnesses told court that Mason was definitely not impaired when he left the Tillicum Club close to midnight.

Mason said he drank about two and one-half bottles of beer and was on his way home when involved in the accident.

Defense counsel was James Proudfoot.

Winners of Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club weekly tournament were: Sam and Jim Duprau, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Druce, Laura Tingley and Mrs. Lili Tattersall, W. Simpson-Baile and Mrs. Ethel Cleworth, Mrs. A. Halliday and Mrs. L. Duncan, Mrs. Dora Duprau and Mrs. Phyllis Davis.

Visitors to Lake Warned of Thefts

Colwood RCMP have warned beach-goers not to leave valuables in their cars while at Thetis Lake.

The warning followed a series of thefts from cars while their occupants were down at the beach.

Locking a car means little, they say. Recently a leather jacket was stolen after a locked car was broken into.

Thursday, William Q. Grimes of Calgary reported hubcaps were stolen from two wheels of his auto.

Bootlegger Sold Liquor to Police

Fine of $300, or three months hard labor in jail was imposed on Joseph Watson, 720 View, when he pled guilty through counsel in city police court today to a bootlegging charge.

Court was told Constable E. P. Hardy had bought a bottle of hard liquor from the accused at about 12:30 a.m. on June 30. Sale took place in the 700 block View Street.

Police said a case of beer was also found in the trunk of the accused's car.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Will you tell me the date of the school board meeting at which the following appointments were made? H. J. Dalgleish, industrial arts inspector; W. S. Gibson, assistant inspector of industrial arts.

A.—The vote confirming the choice of Mr. Dalgleish as supervisor of industrial arts, and Mr. Gibson as assistant supervisor of industrial arts was passed by the board June 30, 1955.

Q.—I have a question I would like to ask the Times. Is the well-known bearded cowboy, Gabby Hayes, still alive? L. J. B.

A.—This column is informed by persons who frequently view performances of that type on their television sets that Gabby not only is alive but still active in television entertainment in the U.S. He was widely known in the movies for years before the TV age. Some seem to be of the opinion Gabby is derived from Gabriel, but it is more probable it was a cognomen earned for him by his talkativeness.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Fishappers are operating

In Beacon Hill Park according to parks department head W. H. Warren. He said a visitor reported seeing a woman and a teen-aged girl scooping goldfish from a pond with a net. They left with a bottle containing several fish.

Mr. Warren said all fish in the lake had to be destroyed recently to get rid of catfish and the pond from which the fish were taken is being used to rear new goldfish for restocking.

He will also participate in a program for the Victoria summer school for teachers with cellist Mary Hammond from 11 a.m. to noon July 19.

Dramatizations of famous short-story classics were given to students at the Summer School of Education Thursday by Miss Emma Knox, California dramatist. Miss Knox is well known in the Children's Theatre in Berkeley, Calif., in Shakespearean repertory. She is presently touring summer sessions of the western universities with her Short-Story Theatre.

First summer school dance for teachers will be held tonight in the Lansdowne Junior High School gymnasium. Len Acres' orchestra will play from 9 to midnight.

Former City solicitor and member of the B.C. Power Commission, Forrest L. Shaw this afternoon was unanimously elected chairman of the civic affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

He succeeds Ald. Don Smith who declined to stand for re-election.

Fine of $25 or five days in jail was imposed on George Gibbon, HMCS St. Therese, when he pleaded guilty Thursday in Saanich police court to a charge of driving July 1 without a licence.

As far as is known, only one person in Victoria made a public observance of Bastille Day, July 14, the day in 1789 when French peasants rose against their landed gentry and attacked the famed prison, the Bastille.

Major S. V. Longstaff, local historian, was the sole person here to mark the day. He flew a tricolor red, white and blue. He's been marking the day here this way the past 30 years.

"Why not recognize this great day of freedom," he asked. "It's funny that people forget."

A Victoria civil engineer is among 12 new members registered in the Association of Professional Engineers and entitled to practice their profession in B.C. He is R. F. Peterson, P.Eng. of the Department of Public Works (Canada), Trans-Canada Highway Division.

But long before the concert started—not on time, incidentally—it appeared that almost every available foot of lawn, right up to the specially-constructed shell, was occupied, while hundreds promenaded or listened from distant vantage points.

DELIGHT TO EYES

The visual effect, as daylight waned and the flower-bordered stage and musicians were bathed in a soft illumination, was a delight in itself.

Incidentally, another improvement is that platforms have been added to the stage, so that

OUTDOOR SYMPHONY DELIGHTS THOUSANDS

Butchart's Gardens Illuminated as 'Night Music' Starts

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

More than 4,000 Victorians responded Thursday evening to the triple attractions of incomparable Butchart Gardens, the Victoria Symphony Orchestra and visiting artist.

Undoubtedly, and from all points of view, this was the most outstandingly successful garden concert since the Ian Rosses made the first event of its kind available to the public.

Cars began trickling down Benvenuto Road at 5:30. From then on, in a steadily increasing stream, the influx continued, with many people still arriving at intermission time.

the musicians are now seated in tiered ranks.

As to the performance of the orchestra under the direction of Hans Gruber, it perhaps is sufficient to say on this occasion that it was a complement to the scene and the mood of the evening.

The charm of Handel's Royal Watermusic and Mozart's "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" could scarcely be more finely pointed up. The perfect touch came in the latter when gem-like lights blossomed among the trees and floral borders.

The audience was further privileged to hear in Bernard Turgeon, guest artist, a great Canadian talent which, if all goes well, will inevitably achieve international recognition in a few years' time.

His rich baritone voice has power and superb resonance which is enhanced by an unbroken smoothness of vocal line, extremely good placing of tone and excellent diction.

Further, he sings with easy confidence and is physically relaxed and at ease with his audience from the moment he arrives on stage.

The "Don Giovanni" series

nade was done with grace and excellent taste. Mr. Turgeon also sang the "Credo" from "Otello" and songs from "South Pacific" and "Porgy and Bess."

WARM ENTHUSIASM

The whole program was excellently chosen and there was no doubting the warm enthusiasm with which Mr. Gruber, Mr. Turgeon and the orchestra were acclaimed as the concert concluded.

Next Thursday the second and final concert of this season will take place with Lesia Zubrek, outstanding Canadian coloratura soprano, as guest artist.

Locally-Grown Raspberries On the Market for Week-End

By PENNY SAVER

Summer is a time for fresh fruits, and the Victoria markets are abounding in tempting colors and inviting, delicious foods. Fresh raspberries, in a perfect dessert or snack for the days on which you want to do as little cooking as possible. They're selling for 30 cents a basket, and are round and sweet. In shortcakes, puddings or served with cream, these berries will prove to be a favorite treat in your house, too.

Do you like fresh-banana cake? Then try your hand at making one for Sunday's picnic or dinner. Fresh bananas are selling at a low price of 17 cents a pound. Served with ice cream this would be a very appetizing dessert.

Gooseberries are appearing in greater quantities in town, too. They're now two pounds for 35 cents. Plump and juicy Santa Rosa plums are a sun-time favorite in most homes. For 30 cents a pound, you can have them around for snacks and lunches.

Sometimes I come across a food that is almost habit-forming. Like peanuts, popcorn and cheese and crackers—I simply can't stop eating them until they're out of sight. Well, seedless grapes are of a similar nature. They're a light and nourishing fruit that requires no peeling, cracking or pitting before they are eaten. The first thing we know, they're all gone, and we're trotting off to buy more. They're selling for 30 cents a pound, and are healthy, so we should keep a good stock of them, too.

Bing cherries, so sweet and a deep maroon-red shade, are now 39 cents a pound. Local straw-

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Exercise to Get Rid Of Flabby Stomach

Q.—"Will you please give me some exercises for my stomach? I have had a large, flabby stomach ever since my baby was born a year ago. I am not overweight. In fact I am underweight. That's why I cannot understand having a protruding abdomen."

A.—It is easy to understand. Your abdominal muscles were naturally stretched during pregnancy. While there is always a temporary jelly-like flabbiness of the abdomen after childbirth, the woman who started out with strong, firm abdominal muscles will not have such a problem as the one who had weak muscles to start with.

However, in either case, exercises for firming the abdominal muscles should be a part of after-pregnancy care. Do not begin until your doctor says you may. Individual cases differ but usually your doctor will give you the go ahead on exercises about six weeks after delivery.

Q.—Do this one: Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor a little away from your sides. Bend the left knee up close to your abdomen. As you straighten your left leg, bend your right knee up close to your abdomen. Continue. One leg bends as the other straightens. Do not touch the feet to the floor if you can help it, but bring the heels close to the floor.

Q.—"What can I do to get rid of the little white stripes I have had on my abdomen ever since the birth of my baby?"

A.—There is nothing you can do. Time will make them less noticeable. The trick here is preventative. If a pregnant woman will see to it that she does not become overweight during pregnancy and will lubricate the skin over the abdomen each night during pregnancy, she will probably not have these.

Q.—I do not think that I am overweight but my proportions are far from perfect. I am 5 feet, 3½ inches tall and weigh 115 pounds. My bust measures 32 inches, waist 26 and hips 35. What would you suggest?"

A.—You are underweight and should gain from 10 to 15 pounds, depending on your build. Your measurements aren't unattractive. A gain in weight will increase the bust measurement. While gaining those pounds take waist and hip slimming exercises.

There Are Times When Drastic Action Is Needed

By ELIZABETH HURLOCK, PhD

When talking to a person about incidents which are causing trouble in a family brings no results, then a more drastic sort of attack must be made on the problem. That is what I am trying to explain to the woman who wrote:

(Q)—"I think the advice you gave the young man in a recent column is going to cause a lot of trouble, if he follows it. The relationship between a husband and wife is too sensitive for a man to eat at a restaurant and hand his wife the bill whenever she serves monotonous meals of cheap food so she can save money from the food budget for herself. Did you tell the man he should let his wife have a few dollars, apart from the food money, for her own spending? There are always two sides to a problem. You have to visualize the other side as well as the one presented to you in order to give well-rounded advice. Poor advice is worse than no advice at all. Better to answer, 'Sorry, sir, this one is beyond me.'"

(A)—I cannot always give both sides of any problem, because of limitation of space. But I try to give advice without having a clear picture of the problem from both sides.

Then, too, you must realize that a person who thinks he is being mistreated can suffer just as much damage psychologically as the one who is actually mistreated. Whether the mistreatment be actual or not, the "sensitive relationship between husband and wife" is upset.

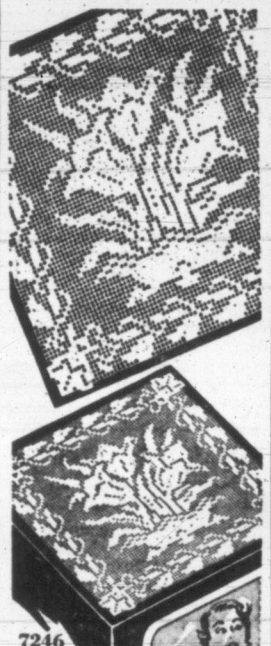

When a person has tried every argument in his power to point out something that bothers him and gets no action, then he must try something more drastic and more dramatic than words. That was what I was trying to stress in my advice to the young man who had been unable to make any headway in his arguments with his wife about the use of the food budget.

It is perfectly true that the man who complained about food may have felt that meals were more important than clothes and was stingy in the amount he gave his wife to spend on her clothes. However, she could never convince him that he was wrong about this by the tactics she was using. I question whether any sensible person would feel that clothes should come before a well-balanced, well-prepared diet for a family.

Circle Plans Silver Tea

Mrs. W. Meadows, left, and Mrs. C. Crawford, at the right, are co-conveners of a silver tea to be held by Speedwell Circle of the King's Daughters, in the garden at the home of Mrs. A. McFarlane, 845 Falkland Road, on Saturday, July 23, from 3 to 5 p.m. Proceeds will be used for purchase of a portable hot-pack machine for the Gorge Road Treatment Hospital. General convener is Mrs. G. W. Sommer, centre.

Between Ourselves

If there was any need to prove the popularity of summer symphony concerts in an outdoor setting, then it was proved last evening at the Butchart Gardens. It was also made evident that as a tourist attraction, the combination of these world-famed gardens and the Victoria Symphony Orchestra would be hard to beat. The publicity bureau, the Chamber of Commerce, and all other kindred groups have a "natural" in their hands. Why don't they get out and capitalize on it?

Bessie

Mr. and Mrs. Ian Ross, owners of the gardens, have done a mammoth piece of work in setting the wheels in motion. Let's get behind them and push!

I know there were many tourists and visitors to the city in the record crowd at the concert yesterday evening. You only needed to watch the cameras in action and the flashlight bulbs going off to realize that the first amateur picture coverage of the season was going to have a wide-spread amateur picture coverage. But where were the news-reel men... the travel bureau motion picture cameras... the television lights.

Success of the summer symphony concerts—as far as the public is concerned—was proved last night. Now, let's go a little further. Can you visualize a Theatre Under the Stars production in the Butchart Gardens?—"Carousell," "Brigadoon," "Music in the Air," "Student Prince"? I can! How about it, Mr. Ross?

One of the delights of last evening's summer symphony was the informality of the occasion. Many who attended went out to the Butchart Gardens early, with their picnic baskets to enjoy a light supper at the sunset hour. Others brought a picnic basket snack for the intermission. There were family parties, groups of young men and women, children, babies... and even a small collie pup cradled gently in the arms of his young mistress.

To add a final touch of informality, I even saw women sitting in their stocking feet—their toes spread to the feel of the cool green grass and their shoes safely tucked under their chairs. Colorful cotton frocks, or swirling printed skirts and matching blouses, with sweaters or stoles, were favored by many feminine guests. Outstanding among these was the apple-green cotton worn by Mrs. Ian Ross, the full, softly pleated skirt swirling gracefully as she moved swiftly and smilingly through the crowd.

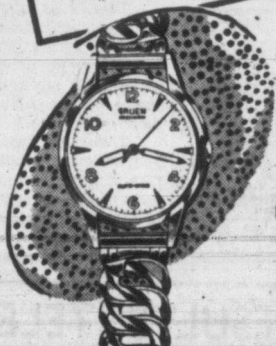

Attending the concert with Princess Chikmatoff were Rear-Admiral and Mrs. H. F. Pullen, Capt. and Mrs. W. B. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. J. Scott-Harsten, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brend Rose of Sewickley, Penn.; Mrs. J. W. Benning, Mr. J. Taylor, Mr. H. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Colin Graham and Mrs. James Audain. The princess entertained her guests at dinner at the Cock Pheasant prior to the concert.

Noticed in the immense throng were young Mr. and Mrs. John Armour, Cmdr. and Mrs. P. E. Fairfull, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Steed, Dr. and Mrs. T. W. A. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. James Gerry, Miss Maureen Fitzgerald, Miss Pat Gannon, Miss Kay Laurie, Miss Sunny Wyatt, Miss Beverly Bark and Mr. Jack Callan; Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Curteis with four young teachers attending summer school here; Miss Margaret MacAstocker, Miss Grace D'Aoust and Mrs. Gladys Puddy of Pentiction and Miss Jean Mitchell of Coquitlam; Rear-Admiral J. C. Hibbard, recently retired, with Mrs. Hibbard and their son Bill; Mrs. Donald McAdie with Mrs. G. A. Hebdien; Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Timp with their niece, Mrs. Judith Allen, of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. H. Barnes with Mr. and Mrs. J. Alan Baker and Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Vey; Mrs. Min Woodley and Miss Esther McCaig; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stenner, Miss Marjorie Vaughn, Capt. and Mrs. E. N. H. Sanguinette, and a host of other Victoria music and garden lovers.

Dessert and Coffee Party

Executive members of the University Women's Club of Victoria entertained at a dessert and coffee party Thursday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. Marian F. Smith, Uplands Road. Honor guests were feminine members of the staff of the summer school. Mrs. A. J. Butterfield, immediate past president of the club, presided at the coffee table, and refreshments were conveyed by Mrs. L. E. Gower. Invited guests included Miss M. E. Abercrombie, Mrs. Bertha Carruthers, Mrs. Eileen Green, Mrs. Sadie M. Boyles, Miss Shirley Lewis, Mrs. Hilda MacKenzie, Miss Sheila O'Connell, Miss Stella Shopland and Miss Elsa Roy, all of Vancouver; Miss Phyllis Bowers, McDonald College at McGill University, Montreal; Mrs. Muriel A. Caldwell, Edmonton; Miss Margaret Wilkinson, Chilliwack; Miss Esme Ford, Kamloops; Mrs. Elva Hanson, Duncan; Miss Elizabeth McLeach, Tuxedo, Man.; Mrs. Kathleen Boone, Miss Bertha Rogers, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Mrs. Florence Daniels, Mrs. Jean Campbell, Mrs. Mary Dickinson and Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffey, all of Victoria.

Return to Saskatoon

Mrs. B. J. Enright and her two children, Shaaron and Bobby, who came to Victoria two months ago to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Shore, 2514 Blackwood Street, have now returned to their home in Saskatoon. While in the west, Mr. and Mrs. Enright attended the Canada Life Assurance Company convention at Sun Valley, Idaho, and then traveled to California. In Victoria, Mrs. Enright was entertained at an evening party given by her aunt, Mrs. W. J. Moore, 448 Cook Street. Mrs. Herbert J. Moore, 1434 Lang Street, also entertained friends and relatives at a tea for Mrs. Enright recently.

Small Dinner Party

Dr. and Mrs. Brock Chisholm, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shaw of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Bunny Warren of Osaka, Japan, were dinner guests at the St. Patrick Street home of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Darling, Thursday evening. Later, Dr. and Mrs. Chisholm and Mr. and Mrs. Shaw went on to the symphony concert at the Butchart Gardens.

Anniversary Party

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Eastwood were honored with a surprise party on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary recently. The guests of honor were presented with a boutonniere and a corsage of white carnations. Many gifts and two out-of-town calls of congratulation were received. A buffet luncheon was served from the table which was centered with a three-tier wedding cake made by Mrs. Eastwood's sister, Mrs. T. Michael, and iced by her niece, Mrs. G. Wilson, Jr., both of Ladysmith. Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Eastwood, Mr. and Mrs. G. Eastwood, Mr. and Mrs. Chesler Eastwood, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Eastwood, Mr. and Mrs. J. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. L. Liesch, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. W. Barratt, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Cousens, Mr. and Mrs. T. Michael, Mr. and Mrs. A. Irving, Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Harold, Mr. and Mrs. P. Nason, Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. B. Pollack, Mr. and Mrs. H. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. H. Holroyd, Mr. and Mrs. J. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. F. Crocker, Misses Sylvia Barratt, Janet Bailey, Carol Eastwood, Dawn Wilson, E. Atkins, Mr. Lynn Eastwood, Mr. Ian Holroyd and Mr. Roy Eastwood.

Yacht Brings Square Dancers

The yacht Eudora has been visiting Victoria during the past two days with 42 devotees of square dancing aboard. They came from various parts of the United States to meet on the yacht in Seattle. On Wednesday evening they gave an exhibition of square dancing dressed in traditional cotton costumes, in Cameron Bowl at Beacon Hill Park and on Thursday evening, in conjunction with the Western Square Dancing Association, they gave another exhibition in Victoria Ballroom. They were entertained at dinner at Olde England Inn on Thursday evening by the manager, Mr. S. V. Lane.

Bysouth-Aldridge Wedding Held in St. John's

Miss Harriet Ellen Aldridge, daughter of Mrs. M. Aldridge, 880 Maddison Street, became the bride of Mr. Albert Bysouth, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Bysouth, 958 Caledonia Avenue in an evening ceremony recently in St. John's Chapel. Rev. George Biddle officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. A. Aldridge, the bride chose an afternoon dress of powder lace over taffeta. Her headdress was of blue net, holding a shoulder-length veil. For "something old," she wore her mother's cameo pendant. Her bouquet was of dark red roses.

Mrs. E. Morrison was matron of honor for her sister, and wore a pale pink corded silk dress, complemented by a pink bandeau in her hair, and a bouquet of pale blue daisies. Best man was Mr. F. Porth, Vancouver.

A reception followed at the Sirocco Supper Club, where Mr. George Chamberlain proposed the toast to the bride. Roses, carnations and snapdragons formed the floral decorations, and a three-tier wedding cake topped with pink rosebuds centred the bride's table.

For a honeymoon on the Mainland and in the Interior of B.C., Mrs. Bysouth donned a white figured dress topped with a blue velvet coat, with white accessories.

At about a year, it's a nice idea to get baby accustomed to cloth or heavy cardboard books. Old magazines, which tear easily, aren't satisfactory because baby will get the idea that books are for tearing rather than looking.

BRAVERY HIGHLIGHTS DRAMA IN THE SKY

Plane, 87 Aboard, Limp Home From 'Point of No Return'

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—The pilot of a crippled giant Globemaster that almost ditched in the Pacific Ocean with 87 men aboard credited military discipline today with preventing a panic during the six harrowing hours the plane was in trouble.

Capt. Theodore S. Roosevelt, 30, of Elyria, O., a distant cousin of two presidents, said he "never could have made it" if the seven other crewmen and 79 paratroopers aboard had not followed his orders.

The C-124 Globemaster was en route from Japan to Travis air force base in California. The giant plane developed trouble about 850 miles from California, about 60 miles beyond the point of no return.

The No. 3 engine went out with internal troubles," Roosevelt said. "Shortly after, the No. 4 engine had to be feathered because of internal trouble and loss of oil."

When the first engine went out, Roosevelt messaged Travis and all air fields in the San Francisco Bay area were alerted.

"After the second engine went out, there was a possibility we would lose another engine," Roosevelt said. "However, the other remaining engines held up okay, although they were failing rapidly."

With two engines out, gas consumption rose alarmingly, Roosevelt said.

While the plane limped towards California at a speed of 140 knots, the passengers and crew prepared to ditch the plane, if necessary.

"The paratroopers jettisoned all their baggage and loose gear except their rifles," Roosevelt continued. "The men were then strapped in their safety belts and their Mae West life jackets. These preparations helped divert the minds of the men from a possible catastrophe as the plane got closer and closer to shore. It flew between 2,000 and 3,000 feet."

RESCUE FLEET MOBILIZED

A commercial DC-4 met the plane and stayed with it until rescue amphibians from California bases made contact. A host of ships, including a coast guard cutter, steamed below in case the plane should have to land in the water.

A Hamilton Field officer, Maj. Frank Zratny, who was the first to enter to plane after it landed, said the passengers and crew looked "very very shaken—and very thankful."

"Are you glad it's over?" Zratny asked.

"We sure are!" came a chorus in answer.

Two Officers Found Guilty Of Hitting Chief

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—Two Pickering township police officers were found guilty Thursday of assaulting their chief. They were remanded one week for sentence.

Magistrate W. S. Woodliffe of Sudbury found constables Grant Thomson and Roy Morden, both 28, guilty of assault occasioning bodily harm. He said he was "impressed by the attitude of the officers toward their chief. They have been very vicious toward him."

Chief Lester Hill had charged both men with striking him in the police station June 17 after Morden had been charged with failing to surrender a vehicle—a police cruiser—and jailed. He was hailed out by Thomson. They returned to the station to pick up Morton's personal belongings when the offence occurred.

4 New Members, 4 Soloists For Victoria Flying Club

Four new members and four soloists have been entered on Victoria Flying Club books so far this month, adding to 14 new memberships and nine solos in June.

Soloists to July 15 were E. Tansky, D. French, D. Dicker and D. Lobb; new members, D. Donaldson, J. Pogadi, H. Roache and B. Barber.

New members in June were H. Barber, E. Tansky, D. French, D. Marwood, Gloria Nyberg, R. Porter, D. Shirley, H. Cogbill, Dr. I. Williams, W. Doerges, C. Cox, P. Ainsworth and F. Errett.

Last month's soloists were R. Kwiram, Dr. W. Newton, A. Bains, J. Burdge, F. Kutny, F. Norie, H. Barber, C. Kelley and D. Shirley.

One student obtained his pilot's licence in June, Deryk Jackson. This month, several have made application, but no results are yet known.

A week from Sunday, the club will take part in a breakfast fly-in and air show at Bellingham airport. Planes will leave Patricia Bay airport at 8 a.m.

Royal Canadian Air Cadets on flying scholarships who began courses July 1 and graduate July 31 include R. Vickery and N. Ridout, Victoria; K. Forde and R. Blinston, Courtenay; E. Perrens and J. Tomlinson, Ladysmith.

Contributions of $750 from the Queen Alexandra Salarium's Women's Auxiliary and $2 from Sunday school children at St. Aidan's Church, Roberts Creek, hiked total receipts for the Salarium building fund to $364,000 today. The auxiliary donation will be used in the purchase of equipment for the occupational therapy room of the new hospital at Gordon Head.

Jockey Injured

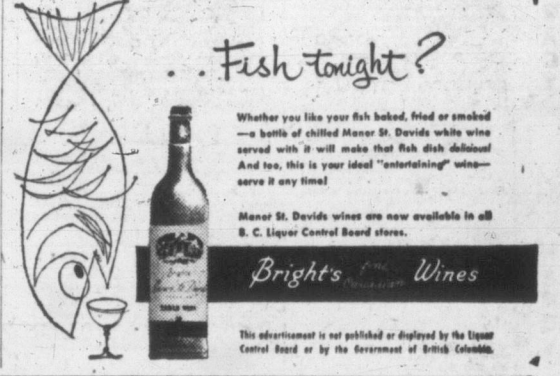

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Veteran jockey Gerald Yeutter was badly hurt in a spill and a two-year-old colt, Bold Bazooka, equalled the world record of 1:03 1/5 for 5 1/2 furlongs at Hollywood Park Thursday.

Yeutter received a fracture of the second lumbar vertebra and a punctured right thigh when his horse, Against Time, fell in the midst of a tight jam going into the first turn in the second race.

Arctic Trip By Ms. Cassiar Okayed By SIU

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ms. Cassiar, tied up at her berth here by the Union Steamships Ltd. strike, will sail for the Arctic next week on a mission for the department of national defence.

Sanction for the 214-foot vessel to transport supplies to an RCAF station in the Arctic was given by the Seafarers' International Union (AFL-ILC), following an appeal by Defence Minister Campbell.

Norman Cunningham, SIU port agent, announced Thursday that the Cassiar, only ship in Canada available to make the voyage, would carry 18 SIU members among the 25-man crew.

J. F. Ellis, general manager of Union Steamships, said arrangements had been made in June—before the strike started—for the Cassiar to make the Arctic run.

"Only a diesel ship with a big cruising range could do the job," Mr. Ellis said.

Meanwhile, the strike, now in its 13th day, continues with no sign of a break. Some 350 seamen and 13 vessels have been idled by the dispute.

Murder Suspect Sought in Calgary Arrested in Calif.

CALGARY (CP)—Peter Morrison, charged with the revolver murder of Norman Yesny, May 7, just outside Calgary's western limits, has been arrested in Stockton, Calif. But he may never return to Canada to face the charge.

Although arrested there at the request of the RCMP and held on a charge of illegal entry into the United States, he is suspected of complicity in a tavern hold-up at Oakdale, Calif., earlier this week in which two employees were shot to death.

Yesny's body was found bound and gagged and thrown into a ditch on the old Banff coach road. He had been shot twice in the head.

A former U.S. soldier Yesny had been en route to Alaska, where he hoped to find a job. Morrison was born in Canada in 1932. He deserted from the American army in 1952.

Largest Field May Be Entered In Cruiser Race

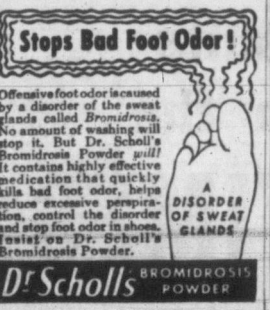

A near-record entry list is expected for the 1955 International Cruiser Race from Bellingham to Genoa Bay Saturday, with more than 140 yachts entered to date.

Record entry was in 1950, when 160 took part in the predicted log race.

Skippers of competing boats predict the time they will take to cover the course, including ETA at various check points on the route. Winning skipper is the one finishing with the least margin of error from his predicted time.

Royal Victoria Yacht Club is host for this year's event. Capital City Yacht Club, Nanaimo Yacht Club, Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, Seattle, Corinthian, and Bellingham clubs are also represented in the entry list.

ROOKIE SIGNED
MONTREAL (CP)—Jacques Belec, a rookie halfback with Montreal Alouettes last year, has been signed to a 1955 contract by the Big Four football club. Belec, 23, is from Timmins, Ont.

Archie's Age Boxing's Big Riddle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Everyone agrees that light heavyweight champion Archie Moore is old for a fighting man, but exactly how old is a disputed question.

Archie's ring record gives his birthdate as Dec. 13, 1916, at Collinsville, Ill. This would make him 38.

But recently, former triple champion Henry Armstrong said he and Archie started fighting in St. Louis in club smokers in 1930. This would mean that Archie was boxing when he was 13, which is hard to believe.

Archie's record book lists his first match, in St. Louis against Sammy Christian, in December, 1936. This would have Archie launching his career when he was 20—rather late.

Every 4.19 seconds of every day somebody buys a new CHEVROLET!

Incredible but true — this is the amazing result of the ever-growing preference for Chevrolet.

Day-in and day-out, Sundays only excepted, there's a proud new Chevrolet owner every 4.19 seconds.

You see them here, you see them there, you see them everywhere — enjoying the pleasures of having chosen Chevrolet.

And because motoramic Chevrolet is such an overwhelming favorite this year, to a greater extent than ever before, Chevrolet leads in popularity — value — sales.

Incidentally, while you were reading this, four Chevrolets were bought!

Visiting Russia Like Trip to Moon

ther away, my perspective sharpens and clarifies. I can look back on the passing parade and evaluate the country through the eyes of the people with whom I was able to communicate. Our interpreter put no obstacle in our path, either in the way of what we said or to whom we spoke.

There was Malenkov... whose appearance at the Canadian Embassy Dominion Day party caused a furore of interest both to guests and to the man on the street who choked all traffic. Malenkov, whose name was relegated from top of the list to the bottom so quickly, looked for a moment like a pathetic figure. I found his eyes had a glint of humor and interest in the fact that four Canadian press women surrounded him and peppered his interpreter with questions.

"You will love Sochi," he told me. "You must go there." And in reply to a remark that one of the party hoped to go to Siberia, he smiled broadly, saying "she could walk"...

Anastas Mikoyan, deputy prime minister, too had a sense of humor that led him to remark in answer to the query, "No, but we are none of us so old that we won't make the trip." And when his interpreter suggested that he meet other people, he quickly rejoined, "I seem to be a prisoner... but I like it." Affable people, they are today.

Woman to Woman During the 12 days, during which time we covered 6,000 miles in six days, we traveled from Moscow to the Gulf of Finland, south to the Black Sea that washes the shores of Turkey, and east to Stalingrad on the border of Asia. We sat around the editorial board of Pravda, with their top woman editor who spoke English. And in the way of journalists, took down our hair and talked as woman to woman about affairs in the world today.

We visited some enormous and glittering sanitariums, that provide every luxury of the western world, complete with health services for a month of every worker's year. We shopped in G.U.M., the world's largest department store that has 1,000 saleswomen to look after its daily quota of 140,000 shoppers. We basked in the Victorian elegance of Moscow and Leningrad hotels, drank cocktails and vodka at their bars, visited their subway, church and Kremlin. We joined thousands who daily pay tribute to their two gods, Lenin and Stalin, the men who have given the Russian people a new conception of life.

In succeeding stories, I will give more detailed account of life today in the Soviet Union, the country of the moon where the covering sky is studded with ruby red stars.

City May Use Tax Sale for Development

Government permission for Victoria city to use tax-sale funds for a street development program now underway in the Pemberton Woods area has been received at City Hall.

An order-in-council approves use of $32,000 in tax sale funds for extension of Richardson, St. Charles, Montgomery and Metcoshin with sewers and storm drains. The project, which was announced by city finance committee several months ago, will provide saleable lots worth $50,000 and a tax potential of $10,000. About 30 new home-sites will be opened up and sold for prices ranging from $1,000 to $2,000.

Night School Chiefs Close 5-Day Meeting

B.C. night school directors are meeting today at the final session of a provincial night school conference, held in conjunction with the 1955 summer school at Lansdowne Junior High School.

This morning H. D. Pritchard, principal, Pentecost High School, led a discussion of "Community Relations and the Night School." Panel members were R. H. Reeve, president, B.C. School Trustees' Association; A. Turnbull, municipal inspector of schools; J. S. White, director of vocational and technical education and A. K. Macleod, director, Summerland night school.

E. A. Goddard, director of Cowichan night school, chaired a panel on "Evaluation of a Night School Program," headed by G. Bruce, director of adult education, Vancouver, and R. H. Davidson, director, Prince Rupert night school.

In the five-day conference, the 30 directors have attended 24 sessions dealing with objectives, organization and administration of night schools.

Conference chairman was L. J. Wallace, director of Community Programs Branch, Department of Education.

22 German PWs Freed By Poland

HERLESHAUSEN, Germany (AP)—Twenty-two German prisoners of war were returned home today after more than 10 years captivity in Communist Poland. They had been captured by the Allies during the last days of the Second World War and later turned over to the Poles who convicted them of war crimes.

FRASER RIVER CHANGES ROUSE FEARS OF FLOOD

AGASSIZ, B.C. (CP)—Fear that the bed and banks of the Fraser River may have been so changed as to create a flood threat every year was expressed by Reeve Fraser at municipal council meeting.

"The type of runoff we had this year would have worried nobody before 1948," the Reeve said. "The river hasn't the capacity it had even in 1950."

From 1894 to 1948 we had only one flash flood. Previous to '48 no one paid too much attention to the river. Now the high bank is gone and we are trying to fight the river on the low-lying land.

Soviet Leaders Renounce War In 'Dispute With Capitalism'

Bulgarian Urges 'Co-operation' In Historic Talk With Newsmen

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Premier Bulganin told a press conference today the Soviet Union "will exert all efforts" to find a "common language" with the west at next week's Geneva Big Four conference.

Bulgarian said the four powers should "discuss patiently and loyally at a round table" unsettled international problems.

TOP TEAM ATTENDS

The other four men of Bulganin's team for the Geneva talks were also present: Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party leader; Vyacheslav Molotov, foreign minister; Marshal Georgi Zhukov, defence minister, and Andrei Gromyko, deputy foreign minister.

The premier said the dispute between capitalism and socialism "cannot be solved by force with the help of war."

A SACRED DUTY

Bulgarian said the Soviet union considers it its "sacred duty" to exert all efforts to substitute an atmosphere of confidence, mutual understanding and businesslike co-operation for the present tension.

He added "we hope that this will also be done by the other participants in the conference."

He declared Russia "has

IKE, BULGANIN TO EXCHANGE STATE VISITS?

MOSCOW (UP)—Reports circulated among foreigners here today that Premier Nikolai Bulganin and President Eisenhower may exchange state visits as a result of next week's Geneva conference.

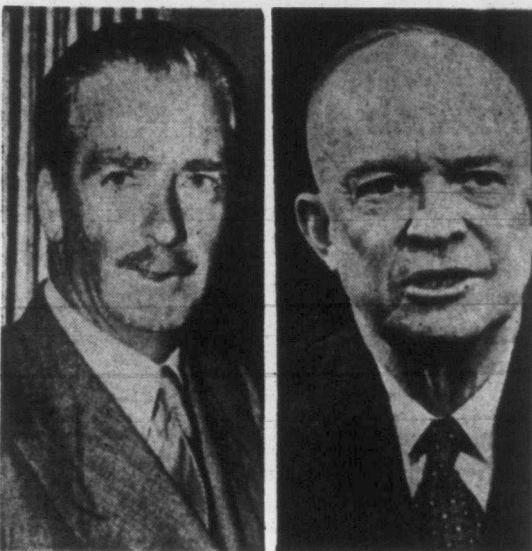

It would be as unprecedented for an American president to visit Moscow and for a Soviet premier to visit Washington as the open press conference which Bulganin scheduled for today.

Mr. Eisenhower visited Moscow as a victorious comrade-in-arms at the end of Second World War. But he has never been here as president.

never intended and does not intend to attack anybody," but "seeing the war preparations of other states we naturally cannot but take measures to guarantee the security of our country."

"We have an army, and in our opinion a very good army, equipped with all the necessary techniques," Bulganin spoke quietly and with emphasis as he read the text of his statement. There was no opportunity for correspondents to ask questions.

Eden Gets Pointers From 'The Old Master'

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Eden had an hour's talk on Thursday night with his old chief, Sir Winston Churchill, about the Big Four conference in Geneva Monday.

Government officials disclosed today that Eden went to the 80-year-old statesman's home at Hyde Park Gate, London.

He told Churchill of the latest developments. Then listened to the last-minute views and advice of the man who strove for years to bring about the "talks at the summit" (Churchill's phrase) with Russia.

The visit was more than just a mere tribute to the ground-work laid by the great old statesman. No living man has such experience of top level talks with Russia and other powers.

Several newspapers recently had suggested that Churchill should be asked to accompany Eden to Geneva as a sort of unofficial guide and counsellor.

It was even raised in the House of Commons but the question was sidestepped gracefully by Eden.

ARCHBISHOP ASKS PRAYERS FOR BIG FOUR

Archbishop of British Columbia Harold E. Sexton today issued a call to prayer in all Anglican churches throughout B.C. and the Yukon to "engage in a worldwide act of intercession" during the Geneva summit conference.

Archbishop Sexton asked all clergy to pray for "God's blessing on the forthcoming meeting of the heads of the governments of France, the United Kingdom, the United States of America, and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics."

Daily prayers at noon were urged upon individual Anglicans for the duration of the Big Four talks.

Fog Delays Flo's Swim For 2 Weeks

DOVER, Eng. (AP)—Dense fog ruined Florence Chadwick's hopes of starting a two-way English Channel crossing today.

Aides said the American swimmer now could not start her projected swim for two weeks, when the tides come right again. This was the fourth postponement of her attempted swim.

The San Diego, Calif., swimmer holds the records for channel swims in each direction. No one has ever swam it both ways non-stop.

11 INJURED AS BUS RAMS INTO TRANSPORT

BOWMANVILLE, Ont. (BUP)—A Colonial Coach Lines bus carrying 24 passengers crashed into the rear of a heavy automobile transport at nearby Newcastle early today, injuring 11 persons.

Most of the passengers were dozing during the night journey.

The impact knocked them out of their seats and they sprawled in the centre aisle amid a pile of overnight bags, pillows and broken glass.

EUROPE'S HEAT WAVE DEATH TOLL NOW 100

LONDON (AP)—Thunderstorms striking communities with sudden fierceness were breaking the heat wave in Europe today.

The death toll in the eight-day spell of hot weather was estimated at 100 persons.

In Britain, there was apprehension that the violent stabs of chain lightning, which killed six persons Thursday, might bring more casualties.

Temperatures approached 80 degrees and it was considerably warmer at various places on the Continent.

Norway reported a maximum temperature of 91 degrees, and Oslo city authorities introduced regulations to conserve water.

Three Lynched As French Riot In Morocco

Europeans Storm Streets After Terror Bomb Kills Six

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—One policeman was killed and three Moroccans were reported lynched this afternoon during the bloody rioting which followed explosion of a bomb in the European section of town Thursday night.

Angry mobs of French colonists began rioting this morning in protest over the terror bombing.

The trouble was sparked by a bomb which exploded on a main street and killed six Europeans, including a 10-year-old child. Witnesses said the bomb was loaded onto a cart and pushed by two Moroccans into a cafe section which was crowded with Europeans celebrating French Bastille Day. The Moroccans then walked away.

WRECKED CAFES

The blast, heard throughout the city, wrecked two crowded sidewalk cafes. Police and uninjured civilians pulled six dead and 33 wounded from the chaos of splintered tables, chairs and glassware.

Almost immediately thousands of men swarmed into the streets, shouting insults at Resident-General Gilbert Grandval and other Europeans holding moderate views on ways to end the nationalist terrorism in this North African protectorate.

The mob surged into Casablanca's main square and set fire to five stores owned by Moroccans.

A seventh European was shot to death as mobs tried to break into the home of Jean Charles Legrand, French lawyer designated to defend Moroccans on terrorist charges.

Legrand, who fired pistol shots at the crowd, was arrested and charged with murder.

Violence spread to the native quarter when Moroccans hurled a grenade at a police jeep, injuring five policemen. The police fired back, killing three Moroccans and wounding several others.

Thursday night's violence angered moderate Moroccans and liberal Frenchmen alike. It came within a few hours after Grandval had announced that the last internment camp holding anti-French Moroccans would be closed down.

It also followed the French government's announcement that Grandval was being sent to Morocco to carry out a policy of giving more home rule to the Moroccans.

Matric Results (Awards Only) Out Tuesday

Names of scholarship winners in department of education university entrance and Grade 13 examinations in June will be released Tuesday, July 19.

A complete list of examination results will not be released, a departure from previous department policy. Officials said this is because the lists showed only examination results, and that students promoted without having to take exams did not appear.

Individual school boards may release complete promotion lists later this year, they said.

Cancel Vaccine Trial

LONDON (Reuters)—The British Medical Research Council today announced cancellation of an intended trial of the American Salk anti-polio vaccine. Experiments have been started to find a safer vaccine.

Rites Administered

Although Postmaster General Cote has received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church in hospital at Ottawa where he is suffering from a heart ailment, his doctor, Roland Gagne, is confident the cabinet minister will recover. Mr. Cote is 52.

Criminal Aspects Will Be Checked For Commissioner

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today ordered a Royal Canadian Mounted Police team into the Vancouver city police force probe.

The order was made at the request of R. H. Tupper, QC, who is conducting the inquiry. The team, headed by an inspector, includes "three experienced investigators" according to RCMP Assistant Commissioner E. C. Rivett-Carnac.

Assistant Commissioner Rivett-Carnac said the squad would start its investigations Monday. They will "inquire into any matter having a possible criminal application arising out of the Royal Commission findings."

A brief press statement issued by Mr. Bonner's office said:

"Attorney-General Robert Bonner today announced, following a request by Mr. R. H. Tupper, who is conducting an inquiry into the Vancouver city police force, that certain facilities of the RCMP have been made available for the purpose of investigating criminal aspects of the matters coming before the inquiry."

The attorney-general was not available for comment.

The team has been drawn from the RCMP's criminal investigation bureau.

Assistant Commissioner Rivett-Carnac said the force is "acting in the normal course of our police duties" in entering the investigation of Vancouver's police department.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two of British Columbia's top women golfers, Sheila Ross of Marine Drive and Dorothy Herberston of Victoria's Gorge Vale, were all square at the end of the first 18 of the 36-hole match play final for the B.C. closed championship at Quilchena today. Miss Herberston is defending champion.

Vancouver Jobs at Seven-Year High

VANCOUVER (CP)—Employment in Vancouver has hit a seven-year high, National Employment Service officials said today. The spokesman said he expected the number seeking work to continue to decline until early September. There were 11,518 persons registered for employment today.

Peron Quits Party; Stays President

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UP)—President Juan D. Peron today announced his resignation as head of the powerful Peronist Party so he could continue as "President of all Argentines."

He also announced an end to the "state of internal war" which has been in effect since 1951, and the restoration of full constitutional guarantees and freedoms including "freedom of the press."

"The Peronist revolution has ended," Peron told the leaders of the Peronist congressional majority.

Traffic Radar on Mainland Traps 9

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nine motorists will face prosecution for speeding in suburban Burnaby next week following the first use of radar on B.C. highways.

They were among 50 drivers checked by three RCMP traffic teams Thursday in the first "serious" use of radar equipment. Previously, motorists had been warned in test runs.

Clean-Up Fight Launched in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The government announced tonight that air, navy and land forces have launched a general attack on the last fortifications of rebel Hoa Hao Gen. Bacut in South Viet Nam's far west.

The assault, which began at dawn Thursday, was preceded by massive artillery fire. A brief communique said the rebels were withdrawing before the nationalist advance.

Press Praised for Probe Coverage

VANCOUVER (CP)—R. H. Tupper, one-man Royal Commission, hearing corruption charges against officers of Vancouver's city police force, thinks newspaper coverage has been good but has warned against comment in editorials, or headlines.

T. G. Norris, counsel for Chief Walter Mulligan, agreed "press accounts of this hearing have been fair."

ENTRANTS FAIL AGAIN;
PUZZLE PRIZE TO $275

The Times' Crossword prize stands at the $275 mark as entrants failed again for the eighth straight week.

"Gnat" was one answer most puzzlers failed to come up with, the majority of them arriving at the solution as "gnat."

The clue said: "One possible source of irritation when people are having a picnic." This suggests a source of irritation to "people," presumably all the people at the picnic. Gnat would need to be in the plural for this since one solitary gnat would be too trifling.

Other wrong guesses were "hint" instead of "hunt" and "pray" instead of "play."

Complete answer and explanation for last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week will be found on Page 21 of today's Times.

New Cougar Coach?

Alex Shibicky, former NHL star and twice New Westminster coach "has been discussed" as possible Victoria Cougar hockey mentor for the 1955-56 season, club general manager Fred Hutchinson said today. "However, there is nothing definite," Hutchinson added, "as a playing coach is still very much in the picture."

Soviet Leaders
Rule Out WarBulganin Urges 'Co-operation'
In Historic Talk With Newsmen

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Premier Bulganin told a press conference today the Soviet Union "will exert all efforts" to find a "common language" with the west at next week's Geneva Big Four conference.

Bulganin said the four powers should "discuss patiently and loyally at a round table" unsettled international problems. Bulganin was addressing a gathering of foreign correspondents called to the Kremlin for the first press conference ever given by a Russian head of government.

TOP TEAM ATTENDS

The other four men of Bulganin's team for the Geneva talks were also present: Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party leader; Vyacheslav Molotov, foreign minister; Marshal Georgi Zhukov, defence minister, and Andrei Gromyko, deputy foreign minister.

The premier said the dispute between capitalism and socialism "cannot be solved by force with the help of war."

He said East and West should prove their viewpoints through "peaceful economic competition."

A SACRED DUTY

Bulganin said the Soviet union considers it its "sacred duty" to exert all efforts to substitute an atmosphere of confidence, mutual understanding and businesslike co-operation for the present tension.

He added "we hope that this will also be done by the other participants in the conference." He declared Russia "has

IKE, BULGANIN
TO EXCHANGE
STATE VISITS?

MOSCOW (UP)—Reports circulated among foreigners here today that Premier Nikolai Bulganin and President Eisenhower may exchange state visits as a result of next week's Geneva conference.

It would be as unprecedented for an American president to visit Moscow and for a Soviet premier to visit Washington as the open press conference which Bulganin scheduled for today.

Mr. Eisenhower visited Moscow as a victorious comrade-in-arms at the end of Second World War. But he has never been here as president.

never intended and does not intend to attack anybody," but "seeing the war preparations of other states we naturally cannot but take measures to guarantee the security of our country."

"We have an army, and in our opinion a very good army, equipped with all the necessary techniques."

Bulganin spoke quietly and with emphasis as he read the text of his statement. There was no opportunity for correspondents to ask questions.

Eden Gets Pointers
From 'The Old Master'

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Eden had an hour's talk on Thursday night, with his old chief, Sir Winston Churchill, about the Big Four conference in Geneva Monday.

Government officials disclosed today that Eden went to the 80-year-old statesman's home at Hyde Park Gate, London.

He told Churchill of the latest developments, then listened to the last-minute views and advice of the man who strove for years to bring about the "talks at the summit" (Churchill's phrase) with Russia.

The visit was more than just a mere tribute to the ground-work laid by the great old statesman. No living man has such experience of top level talks with Russia and other powers.

Several newspapers recently had suggested that Churchill should be asked to accompany Eden to Geneva as a sort of unofficial guide and counsellor.

It was even raised in the House of Commons but the question was sidestepped gracefully by Eden.

EUROPE'S HEAT WAVE
DEATH TOLL NOW 100

LONDON (AP)—Thunderstorms striking communities with sudden fierceness were breaking the heat wave in Europe today.

The death toll in the eight-day spell of hot weather was estimated at 100 persons.

In Britain, there was apprehension that the violent stabs of chain lightning, which killed six persons Thursday, might bring more casualties.

Temperatures approached 80 degrees and it was considerably warmer at various places on the Continent.

Norway reported a maximum temperature of 91 degrees, and Oslo city authorities introduced regulations to conserve water.

It's sure good 't' hear the Premier's installing a safety belt in his car. We'd hate to see him backin' up.

Apropos the Vancouver crime investigation: though he may not be so Rumble, there's no police like Hume.

Folks are tossin' money into the Mayor's fund for Bert Thomas like their nickels wuz dollars.

Rites Administered

Although Postmaster-General Cote has received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church in hospital at Ottawa where he is suffering from a heart ailment, his doctor, Roland Gagne, is confident the cabinet minister will recover. Mr. Cote is 52.

Three Lynched
In Morocco

Rioting

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—One policeman was killed and three Moroccans were reported lynched this afternoon during the bloody rioting which followed explosion of a bomb in the European section of town Thursday night.

Angry mobs of French colonists began rioting this morning in protest over the terror bombing.

The trouble was sparked by a bomb, which exploded on a main street and killed six Europeans, including a 10-year-old child. Witnesses said the bomb was loaded on a cart and pushed by two Moroccans into a cafe section which was crowded with Europeans celebrating French Bastille Day. The Moroccans then walked away.

WRECKED CAFES

The blast, heard throughout the city, wrecked two crowded sidewalk cafes.

Police and uninjured civilians pulled six dead and 33 wounded from the chaos of splintered tables, chairs and glassware.

Almost immediately thousands of men swarmed into the streets, shouting insults at Resident-General Gilbert Grandval and other Europeans holding moderate views on ways to end the nationalist terrorism in this North African protectorate.

The mob surged into Casablanca's main square and set fire to five stores owned by Moroccans.

REPORT ON RUSSIA TODAY

'Trip to Moon' Says Reta
After 6,000-Mile Soviet Tour

(Reta Myers, well known British Columbia newspaperwoman, was the leader of a party of 11 Canadian newswomen which has just returned from an 11-day visit to Moscow. Mrs. Myers today starts a series of articles for the Times on her visit.)

BY RETA MYERS

I've just come back from a trip to the moon... and I'm still trying to clarify my ideas and translate for western minds the strange experiment that has, in less than 40 years, imposed a new civilization on its 200,000,000 people... that frightens the world.

Everything seems fine in the USSR for the Russians... and it is the same, they hope, for the rest of the world. The dove of peace, which has appeared in the vast expanse which encompasses 1/6th of the world's surface, is hovering.

It is years in experience, but

Criminal Aspects
Will Be Checked
At Tupper's Request

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today ordered a Royal Canadian Mounted Police team into the Vancouver city police force probe.

The order was made at the request of R. H. Tupper, QC, who is conducting the inquiry. The team, headed by an inspector, includes "three experienced investigators" according to RCMP Assistant-Commissioner E. C. Rivett-Carnac.

Assistant-Commissioner Rivett-Carnac said the squad would start its investigations Monday. They will "inquire into any matter having a possible criminal application arising out of the Royal Commission sittings."

A brief press statement issued by Mr. Bonner's office said: "Attorney-General Robert Bonner today announced, following a request by Mr. R. H. Tupper, who is conducting an inquiry into the Vancouver city police force, that certain facilities of the RCMP have been made available for the purpose of investigating criminal aspects of the matters coming before the inquiry."

The attorney-general was not available for comment. The team has been drawn from the RCMP's criminal investigation bureau.

Assistant-Commissioner Rivett-Carnac said the force is "acting in the normal course of its police duties" in entering the investigation of Vancouver's police department.

Inquiry Will Await
Key Figure's Story

Tupper Inquiry Adjourned 10 Days
In Hope Cuthbert Will Be Able to Talk

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Fred Hume said today he will testify before Vancouver's royal commission inquiring into charges of police corruption if asked to appear.

(CP and BUP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER—Royal Commissioner R. H. Tupper, QC, waited today for Detective-Sergeant Len Cuthbert to recover from self-inflicted gunshot wounds before continuing his official investigation of charges of laxity and corruption in the Vancouver police force.

Mr. Tupper said it would be at least 10 days before the commission meets again.

The hearings were adjourned Thursday after a two-day session in which police officials testified they believed Chief Walter Mulligan and detectives were linked with the underworld.

Cuthbert has emerged as the key figure. Every witness mentioned his name.

There was a possibility that Cuthbert, whose attempted suicide in the police station, June 24, sparked the probe, would

New Plan to Cut Arms
Readied by U.S. Aide

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is preparing a secret new disarmament plan for early consideration by the world's major powers, including Russia.

Mr. Eisenhower was reported to have high hopes the Big Four powers at Geneva will agree to a fresh start—probably next fall—on a step-by-step path toward eventual global disarmament.

But the President, with British and French support, was reported ready to oppose any Russian move to call for a gigantic "world disarmament conference." This Soviet approach to disarmament, sounded for years, was repeated only last month by Foreign Minister Molotov at San Francisco. Diplomats are sure it will be repeated again at Geneva.

Inspection is expected to be the heart of the new U.S. plan under formulation by Harold E. Stassen, special disarmament adviser to the President.

Stassen is in Paris for Saturday's meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council. He is not scheduled to go to Geneva. But he could race there quickly, if needed, since he will be in Paris all next week.

The parting remark of our Czech stewardess at Prague "have a good trip in Moscow" was heart-warming, but not reassuring. Now, looking back on the 12 days during which we sampled Russian hospitality and way of life, I can truthfully say... I'd like to see more of the moon.

Much has been written of this strange country that has so recently put its foot over the borders of modern civilization. The stories have been emotional and superficial. And it is idle to say that one can spend two weeks in such a vast country and come out with the answers. But as I get farther and farther... (Continued on Page 25)
